DESPITE SURGERY ANDY FACES A CLOUDY FUTURE

by Gray Phombeah

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Andy, the forgotten victim of severe child abuse who is still without a home, has undergone a third plastic surgery at the Kilifi District Hospital on Tuesday in a further attempt to save his hands severely burnt two years ago in a brutal incident of cruelty to children.

Adding further agony to a joyless childhood, is the fact that last Sunday Andrew Peter Estafi passed through gates of the Mombasa Salvation Army Home in Kizingo, which has been his temporary home since September - never to return back again.

The institution, which came to the aid of Andy when he was released from the Kilifi hospital after his second operation, caters for children aged between one and seven, and feels that Andy is older and his case too late, to benefit from the home.

Two surgeries performed by Dr. Adams Ray of the African Medical and Research Foundation (AMREF) and assisted by Kilifi doctors, helped to put back Andy's right hand to a fairly good shape, allowing him to hold and play with a pencil for the first time in his life.

The reconstructive surgery was arranged by the Mombasa Christian Hospital Service Group, a voluntary organisation which looks after the spiritual welfare of the sick in hospitals.

Other institutions have faced similar dilemmas in trying to help Andy who was early this year committed by a juvenile court to the Coast Provincial Children's officer to find a home for him.

The SOS Village cannot accept any child later than the infancy stage and Mji Wa Salama cannot help him much because of the burns on his hands, which would require extra care.

His lack of Kindergarten education and the disability which has denied him the use of his hands have also meant that the Portreitz School for the Physically Disabled would offer little benefit to him.

Andy was admitted to Coast General Hospital in November 1983 with crippling burns of severe child torture received at the hands of a wicked step-mother.

He was to stay there for the next two years, sandwiched between the sick and the dying, the capability to use his hands reduced to zero and without a word from his parents or relatives.

His father, who was jailed for negligence soon after the incident, disappeared after discharge from prison and has not been traced. His stepmother also disappeared after the incident.

Attempts to trace his real mother or his relatives were also futile.

Doctors at the Coast General Hospital managed to restore some mobility to his right hand and his fate looked beyond repair until the delicate plastic surgery carried out at Kilifi early this year.

Sketchy accounts given by the Mombasa Christian Hospital Service Group tell of a young child's tormented life full of misery, loneliness, pain and emotional emptiness at a very tender age.

Andrew Peter Estafi was born in 1978 or 79 in Magongo to parents from Western Kenya.

From the first breath of life, he was ushered into a family of abject poverty and grave consequences two years later. His mother left, apparently after a row with his father, when Andy was probably two or three years old.

"It was too soon for him to have sampled the love, care and protection of his mother and he was too young to face the horrible events which were to follow," a spokeswoman of the Group said.

According to the Mombasa Children's Department, a series of child abuses might have culminated into that fateful day in 1983 when his step-mother, accusing him of stealing food in the house and probably after previous severe beatings, held his hands in a hot charcoal fire, causing him severe burns. Mombasa doctors and social workers feel that the psychological wounds inflicted on Andrew, who spent his Easter holidays at the Likoni juvenile remand home and may have to return there after his operation, may not heal if a proper and permanent home is not found for him soon.

A social worker suggested that Andrew's plight could only be solved by a willing family prepared to adopt him and bring him up as their own child.

CHURCH PROBES ROLE OF 'MOMBASA MARTYRS'

RECENTLY DISCOVERED DOCUMENTS reveal that well over one hundred African and 146 others, mainly Portuguese, died together 'for their faith' in Mombasa three hundred and fifty years ago. These martyrs were massacred in 1631 during the persecution of Roman Catholic followers by Dom Chingulia - at the time 'King of Mombasa and Malindi.'

By a Correspondent

The process of canonisation of these martyrs was started a year after their death but seemingly it was never completed.

At some point, the relative documents mysteriously disappeared and the Mombasa martyrs were practically forgotten.

Before these documents were recently discovered, little was remembered even about the existence of African Catholics along the East African coast in the early 17th century.

It was generally assumed that the only Catholics in this area at that time were the Portuguese and their port chaplains.

LOCAL CATHOLICS

Almost nothing is mentioned in history books about local Catholics until the modern missionary institutes penetrated the interior of East Africa in the latter half of the last century and established the Church on a firm basis.

Yet the facts remain that 350 years ago Africans constituted a large percentage of the Catholic community along the coast and of the martyrs who shed their blood for the faith in 1631.

A full, definitive account of East Africa's history during that early period has yet to be written.

We know, however, that St Francis Xavier visited Malindi in 1542 on his way to India.

There, the Diocese of Goa was fast becoming the centre of missionary activity along the Indian Ocean coast and in Asia.

In 1597 the Augustinians arrived in Mombasa and soon established other missions in Lamu, Faza and Zanzibar.

By 1626 there were at least six hundred Christian families of Catholics in Mombasa, three hundred Christian families in Faza and some converts in Kilwa and Zanzibar.

All these missions were under the jurisdiction of the Diocese of Goa, but their personnel were mainly Portuguese.

Most of the civil servants and other foreigners along the coast at the time were also Portuguese.

Some of them were good Christians but the conduct of some others left much to be desired.

Although the Portuguese ruled parts of the coast and some islands at that time, there was also some local internal rule.

Mombasa, for example, had a king. He was, however, killed in 1607.

His young son, Yusuf al-Husan, was handed over by the viceroy of India to the Augustinians and sent to Goa.

There he was baptised Jeronimo, instructed in the faith and given a general education.

PORTUGUESE NAVY

He spent some years in the Royal Navy as a soldier of Portugal and married a noble Portuguese woman.

Then around 1626 having gained the approval of those in authority, he returned to Mombasa amid much fanfare to take over his deceased father's kingdom.

Upon being installed as the new king of Mombasa and Malindi, Jeronimo initially remained a Christian and even sent a letter to the Pope professing his obedience and one to the Augustinians in Portugal saying "I have converted to Christianity more than one hundred Moors".

In his letter to the Pope, the king alluded to the fact that he had "Moorish vassals" who obeyed him "with every courtesy and submission".

It is not yet clear what transpired behind the scenes between Jeronimo and these particular Muslims and to what extent

GOVERNMENT PARTY FOR 'WORLD TRAVEL MARKET'

Boost For Kenya

Tourism

KENYA'S TOURIST INDUSTRY has this week received a considerable boost in Britain, where a large Government delegation led by Tourism and Wildlife Minister A.J. Omanga is participating in the 1985 'World Travel Market' being hosted at the Olympia Exhibition centre in London.

A high-power group of local hoteliers and businessmen representing the Kenyan private sector are also attending the five day gathering.

More than 1,500 exhibitors, representing all five continents and over 100 countries are present at the exhibition, which was officially opened on Wednesday by H.R.H. The Princess Diana of Wales.

A feature of the official 'Kenya Stand' has been a 'special issue' of COASTWEEK - which highlights in full colour the numerous holiday and tourist attractions offered throughout Kenya.

The 20-page Coastweek was flown to London direct from Mombasa on Monday this week courtesy of Kenya Airways and their new Airbus service.

Minister Omanga, writing in the

LONDON, Thursday

Coastweek special issue went out of his way to emphasise that Kenyan holidays are both spectacular and different.

"Kenya excels as a country of contrasts, warmth and peace, and provides a ready alternative to the monotonous traditional destinations that have become overcrowded."

MAJOR INDUSTRY

Mr Omanga went on: "Kenya Government considers tourism as a major industry which contributes greatly to the country's economy."

"It is in recognition of these contributions from tourism that we have pledged ourselves to the promotion and preservation of our tourism resources."

He concluded: "Whether you want to hold your next out-of-the-country business conference or just take a pleasure holiday, we assure you that in Kenya you will find your needs and requirements adequately catered for."

Director of Tourism Mr David Musila, who flew into London earlier this week from a tourism conference in Tokyo, also made use of the Coastweek special issue to promote Kenya as a 'Business and Conference Centre'.

Mr Musila noted: "We intend to intensify our promotional efforts through advertising our unique facilities overseas, and by increasing our contacts with conference organisers in the U.S.A., Canada and Europe."

"We plan to create a Conference Bureau to assist evaluating what we have to offer the business community and organisations comprising the broad spectrum of professional activity."

Meanwhile the cosmopolitan and carnival atmosphere at the exhibition continues with stage appearances in the Olympia National and Grand Halls where the richness and variety of cultures is reflected from all over the world.

These include folk dancers from Bulgaria, Thailand, the Philippines, Malaysia, India and the Caribbean.

Other acts include musicians from Texas and Mexico, and martial art troupes from Japan.

PEARLS

The in-thing now are the semi-precious stone-beads and jewellery. You will find an attractive twisted variety in angel-skin pink coaral, lapis, garnets, fresh water pearls and jade, accompanying matching earrings and bracelets.

You cannot miss seeing the strikingly realistic (terracotta) baked-clay sculptures depicting african tribesmen and women. These are made by the renowned sculptor, Henry Dullo.

EARINGS

If you are not sure on what type of jewellery to buy, why not buy a gemstone for a gift! For instance there is available in their gemstone section a pair of red garnets, ideal for earrings, for only 100/-.

A Topaz for 440/-. For something rare, a cornflower-blue tanazinite.

Gemstones Lapidary Ltd. have a wide variety of stones, to name just a few are opals, rubellites, indicolite, etc., They could have the stone set for you, too.

My attention was drawn by a pair of heart-shaped sapphires (blue) surrounded by yellow, pink and orange sapphires, and the sparkling green tsavorites.

FAMILY PRESENTS AT OXFORD STATIONERS

HERE IS a shop where you can buy a present for all members of the family. Named Oxford Stationers, in Kwa Shibu Road off Moi Avenue (in the Motor Mart Building vicinity, Tel. 314024), proprietor Praful Shah has made sure there's something for everybody.

This is Oxford Stationers' first Christmas, for they only opened 10 months ago, so do go and support them.

From the Chico Activity Centre for tiny tots they can choose their Cookoo tricycle.

Considering the area of Oxford Stationers is not too large, a lot goes into the place, and this is due to the clever construction on the part of the owner.

Christmas Crackers

What caught our eye was the display of Christmas Crackers. For quick glittery results you might like to use the spray of gold or silver. There are the usual paper decorations that span from corner to corner, but beautiful are the bells and balls which open up from what appears to be a flat paper.

If you've always wanted to send your friends and loved ones a musical Christmas Card, rush to Oxford Stationers.

Electronic Games

For children you will find bead sets, masks, beauty and jewellery sets for kids, various tricks and jokes. Fly high with their kites, experiment with the chemistry set, get domesticated with the laundry set. Popular indeed is the electronic game and watch all in one.

Let the children 'drive' from a distance with the remote control and sonic control cars, or ingeniously put together the

CHRISTMAS NEWS with ELAINE

We like the vases, symmetrical figurines, or single stem... besides the sports items, indoor and outdoor games - for which Oxford Stationers are already popular suppliers to hotels - this Christmas they've included exercising sets, and the rolling wheel that ensures a flat tum!

However, Praful tells us that some of the quickest sales for adults at the moment are brooches, flowers and leaves. The latter fooled us to be real, since they are replicas of what grow here. Nice too are albums, general sports equipment, clocks and watches, technical drawing sets, calculators, torch-key chains and musical organs, so you'd better hurry. There has also been a recent, accelerating rush on exercise sets and decorations.

discounts

Add latest novels, children's books, 'artists' requirements, and make Oxford Stationers a definite must to visit.

And for you, the buyer, what is your present?

Besides a handsome discount on all photo processing you will get a free gift. Praful might be busy, but it is Easter you should ask for in this connection. Shop girl Sophie is another very helpful assistant who knows every thing down to the most minute detail on the special Christmas card you want to send.

Wild Geese II Returns Without Legendary Richard Burton

RICHARD BURTON pops out of his grave in the opening flash sequence from the original Wild Geese and only briefly, before Edward Fox as they young brother of Burton's Colonel Faulkner takes over in Wild Geese II, opening today at Lotus Cinema.

The film, an action adventure centring on an attempt to release Rudolph Hess from Spandau jail, follows the formula of its predecessor and was written by the same author, the screen writer also worked on the earlier film, as well did executive producer Chris Chrisafis.

The money, too, came partly from backers who have invested in producer Euan Lloyd's films before.

Burton's death, two weeks into shooting, was not only a loss of a close personal friend to Lloyd but also the star of his new movie.

many deaths.
Not keen on being free because he is so accustomed to his cell and finds himself a stranger in the modern world, the 89-year-old Hess turns the tables on those who planned his escape, rendering the whole daring mission frustratingly fruitless.

BACK-UP

The other stars of the film are Barbara Carrera (a female conspirator) and Scott Glenn (Who readily accepts the assignment).

007 finally finds his match at Kenya Cinema when A View To A Kill bows out tomorrow.

Taking over at the same cinema from Monday is Educating Rita, a warm and charming comedy portraying the story of a disillusioned English professor, Dr. Frank Bryant played by Michael Caine, and a working-class hairdresser Rita played by Julie Walters, who is desperately hungry for education.

The weary Dr. Bryant, with whisky bottles hidden behind his books, is to become the mentor for the young woman.

ASSIGNMENT

But thanks to the professionalism of both director Peter Hunt and actor Edward Fox, combining forces to back up Lloyd, the film was completed on budget and two days over the original schedule.

The pivotal role of Hess is taken by Laurence Olivier, who in fact bears an uncanny resemblance to the ex-Nazi leader.

Mercenaries, for the first time operating outside Africa, are hired to spring the Nazi war criminal from his Berlin prison, a virtually impossible task, but nonetheless accomplished after

Finnish Connection in New Business Machines Enterprise

TO Mombasa is Finnke Equipment Machines. Finnke is the amalgamation of Finland and Kenya, the old and new homes of Eino Korhikakoski, the Managing Director.

With a total staff of three only, it is Eino himself and his assistant who do all the work repairs.

versatile

Finnke opened May this year. Nyerere Road, opposite Mohamedi Rikoda in Kibokoni (Tel. 315177).

Eino has 14 years experience in all kinds of office machines. He was not specifically trained by one company and is very versatile.

Even his own workshop proves his ingenuity, for when we asked about cleaning a simple machine, how the dust was blown out, etc. Eino immediately showed us his home-made spirit tank. The spirit flows rotationally, ensuring it reaches all parts, secondly to get rid of dust there is a blower, vacuum cleaning type with huge power.

SHOPPING with ELAINE

Apparently, Finland does not manufacture any office machine of its own, but imports from different countries, like Japan and Germany. Eino is not biased towards any make, therefore, and when we asked him what gave him most pleasure in his job, he said finding fault when it requires thinking and being happy when he has achieved his goal - that of repairing something difficult.

accounts

His repair jobs don't stop at typewriters and calculators but include accounting machines and those large ones in banks. A couple of government ministries have already converted to Finnke and now the North Coast hotels are starting to know where best to keep their machines functioning such as the African Safari Club Group.

Eino prefers to enter into a service contract with a client. He checks the machine before finalising such a contract and naturally the machine must be in reasonably good condition. Based on an annual contract Messrs. Finnke Equipment undertake to repair-service each item twice during that period. Any actual repair will be done free of charge, whilst, naturally, any spares which they have to change will be charged to the customer, additionally it has been agreed that Messrs. Finnke Equipment will be liable for any loss which might occur while the customers pieces of equipment are in their workshop. Eino is truly a specialist for typewriters, cash registers, electronic calculators, "Casio", "Olivetti", "Olympia", "A/DFR", "Sweda", IBM etc., in fact any type you can think of. If he goes out on a job then his assistant is present in the workshop.

If one wants to bring in a machine he can; if the customer wants the machine to remain in the office premises and call Finnke, then he can do, that too. But it is essential for a complete service, reckons Eino, that the machine goes into the workshop - the tank and the blower mentioned above.

In this electronic age in Finland, he appears to be at ease with the older models here in Kenya - putting them right. There they press a button to find the fault, here he must work it out for himself, and then work on it and he certainly gets good results.

DATELINE: DAR ES SALAAM NEW DAR REGIME TO PURSUE LIBERAL ECONOMIC POLICIES

THIS WEEK the country's President Ali Hassan Mwinyi called on businessmen who are importing goods under the trade liberalisation policy to play the game according to the rules. Talking to the BBC the President decried cheating and smuggling amongst some businessmen and expressed concern that some people are taking goods away from the country illegally.

Mwinyi said that the government had no plans at present to stop the policy but that they would be more cautious in ensuring that deals are conducted according to laid down regulations.

The President however reiterated that the policy was only transient and had been forced upon the government because it could not afford to bring in consumer goods to the local market.

FARMING

He said that as soon as the government and parastatal institutions are able to provide the necessities for the people, the present policy would be discontinued or rectified.

On farming, the President said that the government was seriously thinking of de-nationalising coffee plantations whose owners were not doing well. He said the government will do this if the trend remain the same.

Recently the government denationalised sisal estates in the country which have now been returned to private companies.

Meanwhile, the national airline carrier Air Tanzania (ATC) included its two Boeing 737 aircrafts at the end of the week because a bird caught of tyres and diesel which various regional co-operative unions are facing.

Several unions have expressed grievances of being allocated low quotes for diesel thereby failing to mobilise transporters to carry out the task of collecting crops from remote villages.

Report from MUNIR DAYA

stuck into the Boeing engines while the other aircraft had a cracked windscreen.

There has been an acute problem with birds at the Kilimanjaro international airport with planes being vulnerable to them. The airline has made a plea to the government to tow away the controversial haliback being perilously parked at both Kilimanjaro and Dar airports.

These planes were abandoned by a Lebanese businessman, Geroge Hallack, following the collapse of the lease to Air Tanzania in 1982 and has since become nesting homes for birds.

REPLACEMENT

Later the Boeing with a cracked windscreen resumed flight following a replacement of the windscreen.

Meanwhile, efforts to haul thousands of tons of food and cashewcrops piled up in the regions have been very discouraging due to a shortage

GLOOMY

The fuel situation in the country is presently gloomy since the Tanzania Italian petroleum refinery company closed down its crude oil processing section last week pending the arrival of fresh crude supplies from the Gulf States next week.

SUCCESS OF GURU NANAK CLINIC

DURING November 1982 on the auspicious occasion of the birth of their first Guru, Guru Nanak the Mombasa Sikhs made a major decision.

They converted the Temple at Makande, Makupa into a Non-Profit making charitable Health Centre.

The clinic was called Guru Nanak Clinic. The pioneer was the then chairman of Siri Guru Singh Sabaha Mr. Dalip Singh Dhanjal.

It was then decided to have one Temple for prayers at Mwembe-Tayari and after various proposals the temple at Makupa was converted into a charitable clinic open to the entire Wanaichchi in the noble cause of serving the humanity

THE BEST safety value for tourists and hotel guests in Kenya's coastal holiday resorts is now being offered by Ares Electronics in the form of a new electronic mini-safe system known as Elsafe.

Providing better security and service, Elsafe is keyless, eliminating the danger that the keys can be lost or copied, and operates through means of a keyboard controlled by micro-processor which will respond only to the individual's chosen code that will lock and open the safe.

For further security, a different combination can be used very time the safe is locked, for the micro-processor only memorise the last code used when locking it and the combination lock contains one million other combination for the client's use.

An added advantage is that each room can be installed with its own safe, making the service independent of restricted opening times where a guest has to go to the reception desk to deposit or take out his or her valuables. At the same time the risks of theft or loss are decentralised and greatly minimized, allowing room for high insurance for each safe.

Elsafe's 70 litre capacity allows considerably more storage space than the small security boxes, and can comfortably accommodate handbags, money, attache cases, cameras, radio cassette players and jewellery in one single safe.

ADVANCED SYSTEMS
Representing an advanced electronic system manufactured from Norway with its security system patented, each Elsafe is system equipped with emergency batteries which automatically take over in the event of a power failure.

This new security system for hotels, bungalows and apartments is readily available from Ares Electronics who are the sole Kenya agents for Elsafe. The two-year-old Ares Electronics also deals in all electronics and TV systems, including videos, for hotels.

Among the first hotels to snap up this new technology was the Robinson Boabab, and greater interest has been generated in other hotels which are planning to acquire the system.

Guests arriving at the Robinson Boabab have been happily surprised to find such modern facilities in Kenya, particularly the Elsafe system which is still relatively new in Europe.

Ares Electronics, on their part, are headed by Mr. Krishnan, himself an accomplished electronics and communications engineer, who looks after the new equipment assisted by his Kenyan personnel trained by him.

a feature Sikhs are well known for.

A qualified Doctor and Paramedical staff was recruited to make sure that best possible medical care is provided. A nominal fee of Shs. 10/- was intended to meet part of the expenses incurred.

EXAMINATIONS

For this fee everything was provided. Doctors consultation, examination and all medicines needed were dispensed.

During its first year the clinic was open for 306 days. Some 16,109 patients attended with an average of 52 patients per day.

The clinic was run at a deficit of about shs. 50,000/- which was met by the Siri Guru Singh Sabaha through donations from members of the Sikh community and the public in general.

It thus became necessary to increase the fee to Shs. 15/- per patient to meet the rising costs of medicines.

The popularity of the clinic spread all over and during its second year patients were attending from all over Mombasa, Likoni, Ukunda, Mkomani, Kongovea, Bamburi, Kilifi, Changamwe, Mazeras, Miritini, Rabai and Tiwi.

EXECUTIVE STAFF

The clinic was open for 308 days and 31386 patients attended with an average of 101 patients a day a trend which is rapidly increasing in the current year.

Thus the clinic has made a tremendous achievement and is fulfilling its goal in serving the poor wanaichchi.

The clinic is managed by a Medical Board appointed by the Executive Council of Siri Guru Singh Sabaha. The chairman of the Sabaha Mr. Gurmukh Singh Pandhal is the current chairman of the board.

Members are Mr. Dalip Singh Dhanjal, Mr. Rajinder Singh Kalsi, Dr. Kuldeep Singh Dang, Dr. Pawan Kumar Gupta, Dr. Sushil Kumar Sharma - Resident Medical Doctor, Mr. Arjinderpal Singh Bamrah - Treasurer and Dr. Varinder Singh Sur secretary and project Director.

The Board meets once a month to execute the various necessities of the clinic.

The clinic at the present time provides daily outpatient services. Patients are registered by the Clerk and Medical case sheet is prepared. The patient is then attended by the Doctor who examines the patient and prescribes the treatment.

He gives whatever treatment is necessary and the patient then collects medicines from a Nurse or Dispenser. Almost all forms of illness are attended to on an outpatient basis.

Those patients requiring specialized treatment or hospitalisation are referred to the Coast Provincial General Hospital.

To make it a complete primary health centre the entire clinic is going to have a facility and facilities for Maternal Child Health and Family Planning will be added from next year.

The MCH/FP project has been prepared by the project formalities with the Mombasa Municipal Council next year.

Under this project A Baby Clinic, An Ante-Natal Clinic, A Post-Natal Clinic, and Family Planning Clinic will be conducted once a week.

The Board also has other projects in the pipeline but this project which is very necessary and on its successful launching in 1986 others will be started latter, which will include a Laboratory, a Dental Unit and a Day Care Centre.

CHARITY FROM SIKH COMMUNITY

To the present time the clinic has to depend upon charity received from members of the Sikh Community and the public of Mombasa including Charitable Institutions.

The Board has undertaken to conduct its fundraising to meet the costs of future extensions and any deficits which the clinic may incur.

It has no intensions of increasing the fee to meet inflation. Thus an appeal is here made to all Philanthropists and Charitable organisations to Aid this clinic which is doing a very valuable service to humanity.

HAVING TO EAT CROW ...

COUNCIL war-lords who had declared to fight on until the last crow is wiped out of the island, seem to have run out of firing power.

As a result the notorious crows are hitting back with a vengeance, pecking at peoples heads indiscriminately, causing sleepless nights to residents by their noise, and spraying dirt and garbage around the town.

What happened to the Council's arsenal, including a gift of military ware from a pesticide firm?

It seems for the time being Mombasa residents, terrified as they are, must arm themselves with umbrellas to protect themselves against crow attacks - and wait patiently until the council comes up with a better "commando" operation or resign to their fate until the crows take over the town.

Lamu Marathon Men Are Doing It Again ...

JULIUS SIMIYU KARANI and Jackson Mutunu Maimbo are doing it again - this time walking from Mombasa to Lamu and back to raise KShs. 150,000/- in aid of the Mayor's Christmas Tree Fund.

This is their second Nyayo walk after trekking more than 500 kms last year from Mombasa to Nairobi to boost the National Famine Relief Fund.

With more people like Karani and Maimbo, ready to battle hostile horizons, we can be assured of enough help to offer the less fortunate members of our society at large.

All those who will benefit from this year's Mayor's Christmas Tree Fund should be reminded of the efforts made by the two, covering 1,000 kms to bring some sunshine into their Christmas Day.

For others, the only help they can contribute is to donate generously by sponsoring this worthy walk.

Is this the case of an Acquired Inflow Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) afflicting once the most efficient supplier of power in the country.

ENJOYABLE EVENING WITH KING'S REGIMENTAL BAND

A VISIT to Kenya by the band of the King's Regiment of the British army started in style last week with an open air evening concert in the courtyard of Fort Jesus.

Starting with "Sunset" and the lowering of the National flag, the band, under Bandmaster Pat Smith, devoted the first half of the evening to military and classical music which was well received by the large audience and which demonstrated how well the Fort is suited for this sort of event.

Moving to a lighter style for the second half, the band included a Latin American number for which some of the audience were "volunteered" to come forward and provide the rhythm section, and the evening ended in the style of the London Promenade concerts.

A most enjoyable evening, organised by the Friends of Fort Jesus with the help of Fort Jesus Museum staff, Mombasa Club and Commander and Mrs Jackson of Royal Navy liaison.

WEATHER WHIMSIES

SHOP-KEEPERS selling umbrellas, gum boots, rain coats and whatever have you, must have been making brisk business with all those false alarms which have been coming from the meteorological department about the weather at the Coast.

Save for last Monday and Tuesday, no drop of rain was observed for nearly the whole of that week, and yet the TV weatherman kept on talking about the rains that never came.

These rain-soaked forecasts, which mean a different thing the next day, are doing no one any good and should be stopped.

اطلب الولد من اللدي

THE philosophy behind the fact that a virgin girl must not or at least should not marry a man without the agreement of her father is not because a girl is considered to be inferior to a man as regards social maturity.

Psychologically as well as physically there is a great difference between a widow and a virgin, by which a widow aged sixteen is not in need of the agreement of her father, while a virgin aged eighteen is why? And furthermore "if" in the view of Islam, woman is a captive of her love. It is the man's motivational urges should Islam acknowledge the freedom of a grown up woman past puberty to manage her own economic affairs?

These questions do not have any connection with any lack of intellectual or mental development. It is related to an aspect of male and female psychology. Man is a slave of his basic urges and women incapable of managing their own affairs, then why that makes him stumble and lose his footings. On the other hand a woman has more patience and endurance in the control of her passions.

A woman as long as she is a virgin and has not come into direct touch with man, very readily believes in the soft whisperings of his affections. The Prophet, the divine psychologist, clearly stated "A woman will never let go from her heart the words of a man to her: 'I love You'." Males always make use of this sensibility of women. The trap of "My Dear, I am dying from love of you" is the best of traps for hunting innocent girls with no experience of man.

That is why it can be seen that it is extra necessary for a virgin to have the agreement of her father who knows the sentiments of men and who, with a few qualifications, wishes goodness and happiness for his daughter.

CRUISE LINER EUROPA ON AFRICA VOYAGE

THE MAGNIFICENT West German cruise vessel Europa of 33,800 gross tons owned by Hapag-Lloyd is due Mombasa tomorrow to berth at No. 1 where she will stay until Tuesday. She is one of the finest and most popular cruise vessels operating in this hemisphere. She last visited Mombasa in 1982.

This time as on the last occasion she is on a round Africa voyage with her two last ports of call being Mogadiscio and Zanzibar. She is painted white with an orange funnel and a broad blue and orange band around her hull. She has some 550 passengers on board.

SHIPPING with JOHN WALTERS

It was due to make a second call at Mombasa on Wednesday of this week to discharge a further load of oil exploration equipment. As the search for oil on the East African Coast gathers momentum so will the number of oil supply vessels increase using Kilindini as their base.

For instance in port this week has been the blue hulled Maersk Shipper anchored at Mtongwé. Although Panamanian registered, she is owned by the well known Danish Shipping Group A.P. Moller.

RO-RO

Another arrival connected with oil exploration is the 3 year old Danish Ro-Ro vessel Mercandian Importer III which arrived this week to load some 500 tons of oil drilling equipment from the COMARCO Jetty.

Due next week is a second maize loader, on 5th December the 15 year old 26,000 d.w. ton Agios Nikolaos III, not surprisingly of Greek ownership, is due to load 23,000 tons bulk maize whilst the first vessel the United Confidence was due to complete this week at No.12.

Another example of a typical bulk carrier in the troubled Japanese Sanko fleet is the 1984

JUMBO

The heavy lift vessel Jumbo Challenger owned by Jumbo-ships Rotterdam, having an attractive red elephant motif on her funnel, has been at No.4 discharging her cargo of four 15 ton quayside cranes for the Kenya Ports Authority. Like most specialised heavy lift carriers she has a most unusual one sided appearance.

Her two heavy derricks can lift 500 tons a piece or 1000 tons working in tandem. Her owners are one of the leading owners of heavy lift vessels in the world.

FERTILISER

Discharging this week at No. 1 berth is the Saudi flag Al Medina with fertiliser and wheat from Europe before loading 600 tons bagged Soda Ash. This vessel, almost 30 years old but certainly not looking her age, has called at Mombasa on several prior occasions. Originally built for Danish owners she is virtually a sister ship of the former E. A. National Line vessels Uganda and Mulungushi.

built 38,000 ton deadweight Sanko South which arrived and anchored at 'c' anchorage early Tuesday morning for a bunkers and water call.

A first time arrival at No.7 berth is the 9000 d.w. ton Panamanian flag Blue Liner discharging 4000 tons Fertiliser. This vessel was originally the Isla Pinta operated by a South American Company but owned by Robert Bornhofen the West German shipowners.

I hear that the Fairwind which has been at the buoys awaiting the attention of our local Shipping Company is expected to move alongside the berth at Ras Liwatoni early December.

SEYCHELLES PLEASED WITH KENYAN LINKS

THE CHAIRMAN of the Seychelles Tourist Board, Mr. Guy Morel has said in Nairobi that the Seychelles welcome Kenya's efforts to develop two centre holidays with the Seychelles.

Mr. Morel held discussions with Kenya's Minister for Tourism and Wildlife, Hon. Andrew Omanga during a short visit to Nairobi.

Mr. Morel said "Kenya and Seychelles are both benefiting from the tourist policies introduced by the countries respective governments".

"The Seychelles Government is firmly committed to the development of a sound tourism industry. Our current five year plan launched in 1984 - projects a steady increase in visitor arrivals so that by 1989 we will reach a ceiling of 100,000 tourists annually".

"Our projected total arrival figures for 1985 is 75,000 and we expect to be right on target", he added.

U.S. NAVY HELPS OUT AT COAST

WHEN the United States Navy comes to Mombasa for Liberty (shore leave) the whole town notices the extra pedestrians on Moi Avenue, the overfull restaurants, and busy curio sellers. What many do not notice is the Navy's quieter imprint: PROJECT HANDCLASP.

This programme collects materials donated by Americans and transported overseas by the Navy for presentation to worthy institutions. Materials include school textbooks, food, medical supplies, perhaps a sewing machine and some fabric.

The Navy visits are too short to allow sorting and distribution by the sailors themselves, so others do that after the ship sails.

Here a photographs of recent presentations in Mombasa of beans, tomato sauce, rice, jam, high-nutrition snacks and medical supplies brought by the U.S.S. Mars and the U.S.S. Fife — ships of Battle Group Bravo, which recently visited Mombasa.

he did not receive the same "courtesy" from some of the Portuguese, but by August 1631, Jeronimo had become a Muslim.

At that time, Mombasa was dominated by Fort Jesus which the Portuguese had started to build in 1592 and was then nearing completion.

This fort stood on the ocean front of the island of Mombasa and controlled the narrow waterways that separated the island from the mainland.

Beyond the mammoth walls of the fort lay the Portuguese settlement, the African town, the Augustinian monastery and three other chapels in various parts of the island.

On August 16, 1631 King Jeronimo requested to visit the Captain of the fort and arrived with ten Moors and some sixty non-Muslims.

Then, abruptly, he killed the Captain. Some other Portuguese staying in the fort were killed.

A fire was started and a sudden state of confusion fell over the fort.

Later, the other side of the town was set on fire and pillaged.

If this was all there was to the story, it might have been construed to have been merely an uprising against the foreign power.

But there was much more, as the recently discovered documents disclose.

Among these documents were 41 pages of sworn testimony by twenty-three witnesses which tell the rest of the story.

This testimony was taken in 1632, only a year after the events took place, and offers evidence that what followed in Mombasa in 1631 was an attack on the faith of the Christians.

The king demanded that the Christians change their faith or die.

Unaccountably these documents giving the rest of the story disappeared.

Only bits and pieces about events, at times somewhat distorted, have filtered into a few history books, but the basic documents were mysteriously missing.

Fortunately for future historians, a scholar, went to extraordinary efforts to find them.

He was Fr. G. S. P. Freeman-Greenville, who served as an education officer in Tanzania in the 1950s and later held University posts in Ghana, Britain and the United States.

His search for the missing documents extended over many years and took many avenues.

One obvious place to look was in the files of the Sacred Congregation of Rites in the Holy See since it dealt with causes for canonisation.

But the only thing found there was a brief minute favourable to the cause of the "Mombasa Martyrs" that had been written by Cardinal Pamfilii who was the Cardinal Prefect of that Congregation in 1630s.

Church Probes Role Of The 'Mombasa Martyrs'

The folder on this matter was otherwise empty.

No trace at all of this affair was found in the Vatican Archives where such records normally should have been.

The Archives of the Congregation for the Evangelisation of Peoples, which had been founded only nine years before the Mombasa massacre, yielded only some ancillary references.

LOST DOCUMENTS

The answer to this mystery of the missing documents may lie in the fact that Napoleon carried off these archives after the sack of Rome in 1804 and some documents may not have been returned.

A lead, however, was found when it was discovered that an undated Italian account of the events had survived in the Casanatese Library in Rome.

This coupled with the fact that three Augustinians died in the massacre led noted East African historian Dr. Freeman-Greenville to contact the Augustinian Generalate in Rome, but the initial results were nil.

Then in 1966 after further search, the Augustinian archivist found a complete copy in their archives of the missing documents.

They were a complete record of the 1632 investigation into the events at Mombasa the previous year.

A partial copy was forwarded to Dr. Freeman-Greenville who used it in his AFER No. 4 in 1967.

Nine years later in 1967, the author had an opportunity to visit Rome to complete his work on the subject and was able to review additional manuscripts.

BRITISH ACADEMY

In 1980, he presented his findings in a scholarly book with a somewhat misleading title:

"The Mombasa Rising against the Portuguese, 1631, from Sworn Evidence" which was published for the British Academy by the Oxford University Press (=32.50).

(Most of this article is based on that book.)

Many of the newly-found documents are from the Court of Inquiry held in 1632 on the martyrs the year before.

This court was convened in the diocesan see of Goa since Mombasa was then under its jurisdiction and the local authority had to take the initial steps before the matter would be referred to Rome.

People in those days were far more mobile than what we might imagine.

Of the twenty-three witnesses who gave testimony before the court, six of them were African, three of whom were women and one a freed slave.

Among the other witnesses were Augustinians, Indians and Portuguese.

Seemingly, the questions before the court referred mainly to the three Augustinians and other Portuguese who had been massacred at Mombasa.

The evidence given on their behalf follows trial procedures and is very specific in distinguishing between what the witnesses actually saw with their own eyes and what they knew from hearsay.

Much of this part of the testimony concerns named individuals and the over all impression is that they suffered for their faith in an outstanding manner.

In a few places, the documents also speak of specific Africans who suffered for their faith such as Dom Antonio, a relative of the apostate king.

However, in some other documents it is difficult at times to discern if they were talking about Portuguese or Africans or both.

It is also now clear how many of the Africans were born in Mombasa or came there from places as far away as Mozambique, nor how many of them were slaves or just servants of free people.

One indication, however, that all those who died did actually die for the faith is the fact that one of the witnesses, an African woman called Speranza, stated that the Africans who were not willing to follow the king were sent to their death along with the others.

Another witness, Ventura Teixeira who seems to have been an Indian, stated that locally born Christians were killed 'for the sake of the faith and were 'strong and constant'.

A third witness, Fr. Joao, testified that two local women were active in the strengthening of the weaker ones.

He also stated that those who died included 72 African men with their wives, and we could add children.

This could give a minimum of well over a hundred Africans who died 'for their faith' and probably more.

These martyrs, Africans and other Catholics from afar, died together during August 1631.

Numerous details are given in the pages of documents, but some of the main events in the massacre include:

• After the fort was attacked on August 16 many Christians took refuge in the Augustinian monastery during the night.

The king "ordered them to be told to embrace the Moslem sect or otherwise they would be put to death."

• Fr. Domingo went the next day to King Jeronimo to appeal for those in the monastery to be given safe passage to other areas, but was not allowed into the fort.

RELIGIOUS ELDERS

The following day, August 18, he returned with Fr Antonio but the king answered from inside the fort that the two priests should become Muslims and he would make them religious leaders. They refused.

• Dom Antonio of Malindi, a Catholic and a relative of the king went to the fort to speak to the king who told him:

"Do as I have done, since our ancestors were Moors."

Antonio replied that he and the other Christians "would not abandon the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ" and that they "were ready to suffer for the confession of the same faith".

He then returned to the monastery.

• A few days later, around August 21, when they were summoned by the king, the priests, Dom Antonio and most of the men left the monastery and went in procession carrying emblems of their faith.

The king gave a signal to his men who were hiding behind the burnt-out houses and they killed all except one Christian who abandoned his faith.

• All the bodies were thrown into the sea, except that of Fr. Antonio which remained in a drainage ditch.

Many witnesses, including an African convert called Sebastiano, testified that four months later "the body of Fr. Antonio of the Passion was found wholly intact and incorrupt, and what is more with the eyes open as if he were alive."

They added that under his garments was a 'very rough hair shirt'.

• When the men had left the monastery to go to the king, the women remained in church.

The king sent word that he would send them to Pate where there were some Portuguese.

The women understood the ruse and answered that "on no account would they abandon the faith".

Later they, their, children and Africans "who were not willing to follow the king" left the monastery and boarded a boat.

BOAT SLAUGHTER

When the boat reached main-stream and came in sight of the fort where the king then was, the sailors slaughtered everyone aboard.

The massacre was horrific. According to one witness, throats were cut, children were torn from the arms of their mothers so they would see them cut to pieces.

The wounded were thrown into the sea and struck with oars as they died and there "was to be seen a headless body with the hands holding a crucifix."

FAMILY PLANNING TO 'BLANKET' COAST AREAS

SUCH has been the success of the Maendeleo Ya Wanawake programme for Maternal Child Health and Family Planning that it is to be 'dramatically extended' to cover four more areas of Kenya.

It presently operates in Muranga and Kakamega and covers the 'free' distribution of Family Planning contraceptives.

This expansion means that an extra 400 Maendeleo 'volunteers' are having to be trained to implement this community-based programme. It is particularly aimed at reaching wananchi in villages and remote areas.

To this end, a high-powered Training Workshop for Maendeleo Ya Wanawake project staff who will be training these 'volunteers' took place at Nyal Beach Hotel from September 9-20.

The workshop, funded by the Centre for Population & Family Health, Columbia University, USA, was also attended by two 'Facilitators' from this University - Professor Martin Gorosh and Susan Nalder.

They were assisting Jennifer Mukolwe, the Maendeleo programme manager, together with colleagues from AMREF and Pathfinder Fund, also a 'Trainer Consultant' Dr. M. Mohamed, who is a private practitioner in Mombasa.

Last year he attended a month-long workshop in Management, Programme Design and Evaluation in Family Planning, Nutrition and Primary Health Care at Columbia University.

Interviewed at Nyal Beach Hotel, Prof. Gorosh said "the Africa training programme which I direct is aimed at people whom you find in organisations such as Maendeleo Ya Wanawake to help them manage, plan, implement and train others".

AFRICA WORKSHOP

He revealed that in the last 2 1/2 years, they had conducted, in addition to an annual course in New York, eleven similar workshops in various countries of Africa.

This was the fourth to take place in Kenya.

The three previous workshops were held together with CAFS (Centre for African Family Studies) whose regional training centre is in Nairobi.

In addition, he said 'we have conducted workshops in the Sudan, Tanzania, Niger and Senegal.

Prof. Gorosh revealed they plan to continue assisting the Maendeleo Ya Wanawake programme and will be here again in January to review the progress of the group of 'Trainers' who had attended the workshop at Nyal Beach Hotel.

He went on 'in March, we plan to conduct a second workshop for this group which will focus on 'management and supervision issues'.

Said Prof. Gorosh 'we look forward to continued collaboration with Maendeleo Ya Wanawake and also hope that several senior members of this organisation will be participating in our June 1986 workshop in America'.

There were fifteen participants in the Training Workshop at Nyal Beach Hotel - most from the Maendeleo project.

Others included two public health nurses from the Coast General Hospital, and one from the family planning private sector.

It was aimed at equipping them with skills in training others in the implementation of this Maendeleo programme with particular emphasis on family planning and the distribution of contraceptives, (which come through the Ministry of Health), at village level.

This overall programme, since 1979, has been assisted by the Pathfinder Fund. It is an agency involved in funding family planning population and health related programme all over the world. It has a regional office in Nairobi.

The Centre for population and Family Health, Columbia University, USA, which is funding the workshop, assisted with the technical aspects of planning and curriculum development.

Jennifer Mukolwe stressed that the programme was not only for Maendeleo Ya Wanawake members, but for the whole community.

She explained that of late the Ministry of Health had been encouraging non-governmental agencies interested in piloting programmes that would complement what it is doing.

HEALTH CLINICS

Said Jennifer, 'Maendeleo can help by getting to people in the more remote areas who are unable to attend health clinics'.

Kenya has one of the highest population growth rates in the world of over four per cent per annum. It is at the coast that the highest birth rate in this country is recorded.

Jennifer revealed they are planning to extend the programme to include the coast, 'possibly, next year'.

She went on 'Family Planning has reached a stage where almost everyone wants to talk about it. The men are accepting it, and some are coming forward for sterilisation or are sending their wives to clinics'.

THE CHAIRMAN of the Skal Club of Mombasa, Sean Gavaghan, left for Israel on Saturday to attend the 46th International Skal Congress in Jerusalem at which he will be suggesting that Mombasa might become the venue of a future world-wide Skal gathering. Skal International has over 28,000 members in 642 clubs in 59 countries of the world bringing together, socially, leading personalities in the tourist industry.

SKAL Club May Host Congress

Many hundreds of Skalleagues attended these Congresses, often accompanied by their wives. It was felt that this would do much to promote the Coast's tourist industry where, during much of the year, there are still many empty hotel beds. The suggestion was made by Jurgen F. Janke, general manager of Mombasa's new 400-bed Hotel Inter-Continental during a Skal Club dinner there. In welcoming them all to Mombasa's latest hotel, Mr. Janke said 'we believe there is a big market for tourism at the coast, and the Inter-Continental group will do its utmost to help in its promotion'.

He noted that the group brings with it a wealth of experience gained all over the world since opening its first hotel some forty years ago. The one at Mombasa represents the fourth outlet in Kenya to be managed by the Inter-Continental group which, said Mr. Janke 'operates to the highest possible internationally acknowledged standards'. He also observed that the development of Inter-Continental Hotels throughout the universe did much to promote such destinations on the world travel market. Mr. Janke felt that if a Skal International Congress could take place at Mombasa it would be a wonderful way of putting the Kenya coast more prominently on the tourist map.

He told Skalleagues, 'we are glad to be part of the community at the coast, and will do our best to help promote it in whatever way we can'.

Mombasa's Inter-Continental opened on November 1, and such is the interest in the Coast's most luxurious hotel that Skal secretary, Zainul Sumra, was overwhelmed with bookings for dinner there despite very short notice being given.

Some 105 Skalleagues and guests (a record!) dined in style in its elegant Function Room surrounded by beautiful Lamu-esque decorative plasterwork on the walls.

INTER-CONTINENTAL Addressing Skalleagues, Sean Gavaghan said, amid cheers, that he would strive to see that Mombasa becomes a future Skal Congress venue. He thanked the general manager and staff of Hotel Inter-Continental for such a fabulous evening and food, which everyone had enjoyed.

UMOJA WA MATAIFA WATIMIZA MIAKA 40 TANGU UANZISHWE

HII NI HOTUBA maalum iliyotolewa na Katibu Mkuu wa Umoja wa Mataifa, Mheshimiwa Javier Perez De Cuellar, kuhusu maadhimisho ya Sikukuu ya Miaka Arobaini ya Umoja wa Mataifa mwaka huu 1985. Imehaririwa na Mhariri wa Kiswahili, Bw. Abdulrahman Sheriff.

na J.P.D. CUELLAR

NI MIAKA arobaini tangu Ulimwengu ushuhudie kuweka kwa msingi wa Shirika jipya la kuingia ushirikiano wa Kimataifa. Shirika hili limekuwa sana katika kipindi hiki, na kazi zake zimezidi kushughulikia matatizo ya karne yetu.

Huku ikipitia misukosuko ya kipindi hiki, Shirika la Umoja wa Mataifa limeweza kukumbatia karibu watu wote wa dunia yetu, pamoja na mawazo na mashaka yake.

MAAFA

Ingawa shirika hili limekabili matatizo mengi, limeitahidi kuwalinda wastu na chochote na kuwaletza msaada waliokumbwa na maafa.

Shirika hili limeonyesha njia ya kuleta amani ulimwenguni kwa kueleza misingi ya tabia njema za jamii ya kimataifa zinavyopasa kuwa na kuonyesha kwa vitendo kinachofaa kufanya ili kurekebisha hali mbalimbali zilizofaa.

Kwa kufanua kanuni za kuhakikisha haki za binadamu, shirika hili limeitegemea wazo la heshima kwa wanadamu. Mataifa yameunganika kwa njia ambazo hazijawahi kuwako na mpaka wa sheria ya kimataifa umezidi kupanuka.

Shirika hili limesaidia kuimisha watu wote kuhusu umuhimu wa kurekebisha mwenendo wa ushirikiano wa kiuchumi kati ya mataifa mbalimbali ili kuwe na maendeleo ya kulinganika katika sehemu zote za ulimwengu.

Kabla ya kuanzishwa kwa Shirika la Umoja wa Mataifa, wazo la kuwa na jamii ya kiulimwengu lilikuwa kama ndoto. Lilipozaliwa shirika hili, wazo hili sasa limekuwa ni ukweli wa maisha yetu. Hatua kubwa imechukuliwa katika maendeleo ya sasa ya binadamu.

HATA hivyo, uhakiki wake utategemea wakati Mataifa hayataendelea kugombana na kupigana, wakati sheria na tabia zinazoeleweka zinavyotia utii wa mataifa yote, wakati jamii ya binadamu imekuwa huru kutoka hofu ya kuangamizwa na mabomu ya 'Nuclear' na wakati she-mu kubwa za ulimwengu hazitabakia kwenye hali ya kukosa tumaini sababu ya umaskini na kutokuja.

Kwa kweli, hili ni wazo kubwa mno, Lakini hata hivyo, wazo na ndoto ya karne iliyopita, leo imekuwa kitu cha lazima kama ustaarabu wa binadamu ulimwenguni utaelelea.

Hata kama vita, ugomvi na mashindano ya kukusanya vyombo vya vita zinasababisha hali ya kufa moyo kwa wengi, wazo hili kubwa ni lazima lichoche na kwa watu waendeleo kukuwa na imani kuwa na uelewano zaidi kwenye shughuli zote za kimataifa.

KANUNI

Kinachoweza kuimarisha imani hii ni Shirika la Umoja wa Mataifa pamoja na nia na kanuni zilizozama na kuelekea mkataba wake, jithada zinazofanywa ili kuleta amani, haki na heshima kwa binadamu wote ni jithada za watu wote wa ulimwengu.

Binadamu wote wakiendelea kuhimiza na kusaidia jithada hizi, kuna wazo kuwa na msukumo wa maendeleo mbele, badala ya hali ya kurudi nyuma.

Binadamu wote wakati waaminifu na juhudi katika kusaidia kutekeleza malengo yanayositizwa na shirika hili, Umoja wa Mataifa unaweza kuwa chombo chenye nguvu zaidi cha kuonyesha miano wa nia njema ya binadamu wote; chombo ambacho ulimwengu unaozidi kuwa na mabadiliko mengi ya kasi unahitaji sana.

Ninaweka wazo hili leo mikononi mweni nyinwi wananchi wenzangu wa ulimwengu wetu.

Risala Maalum Kutoka Amu

na Abdulrahman Sheriff

MWENYEKITI wa KANU Wilayani Lamu, Diwani Ali Mahrus alipongeza hatua iliyochukuliwa na makao makuu ya chama ya kutayarisha Semina katika mikoa yote ili viongozi wa KANU wapate kushtauriana katika mambo kadha yanavyohusiana na chama.

Akizungumza na mimi wakati wa ziara yangu mjini Lamu, Diw. Mahrus aliye pia mwenyekiti wa baraza la Lamu alinimbia kwamba Semina kama hizo zinahitajika kila wakati ili viongozi wapate kupeane mawazo ya busara ya kukimarisha chama.

Diw. Mahrus akaongeza: "ni juu yetu sote viongozi tuliohudhuria semina hiyo kuzingatia maongozi ya chama kwa kutifilia nguvu amri zake na kufuata kwa vitendo katiba na maongozi ya chama katika kuwatumikia wananchi inavyotakikana".

Mwenyekiti huyo alipongeza Kanu wilayani Mombasa kwa matayarisho mazuri ya kuandaa semina hiyo. "Sina bidu kumpongeza Mwenyekiti wa Kanu Mombasa, Bw. Sheriff Nassir kwa kutayarishia vyema na kutuokea vizuri tulipohudhuria Semina hiyo", akasema.

Diw. Mahrus alimwomba Waziri wa Mali ya Asili, Bw. Jeremiah Nyagah awaruhusu watu wa Lamu wakate mikoko na kutafuta masoko ya nje kwani alisema, "mikoko yanaweza kuwapatia wananchi pesa za kutosha na pia Serkali kujipatia fedha za kigeni".

MBUNGE wa Lamu Mashariki, Bw. Mzamil Omar Mzamil pia alipongeza makao makuu ya chama kinachotawala cha Kanu kwa kutayarisha Semina katika kila mkoa nchini na akataja semina iliyofanyika Mombasa Kama "iliyofanikiwa sana".

Katika mahojiano na Coastweek, Bw. Mzamil alisema ni juu ya viongozi wote wa Kanu, Wabunge na Madiwani kuona kwamba wananchi wanatumikiwa na kutendewa ipasavyo.

"Utumishi wetu kwa wananchi waliotuchagua unahitajika kuwa wa kudhisha", akongeza Mbunge huyo.

Akigusia kuhusu hali ya mji wa Lamu, Bw. Mzamil alisema kwamba yale yanavyoandikwa kwamba uchafu umetapakaa mji mzima yalikuwa ya kweli na akawa na maoni kuwa, "lazima hatua ya haraka ichukuliwe kabla ya maradhi mbaya kuchipuka".

Akisema kwamba hana nia ya kumshambulia yoyote, Bw. Mzamil alisema Baraza la Lamu lina jukumu kubwa la kufanya taratibu ili takataka zilizozaa zisafishwe na wananchi waishi maisha yanayostahiki.

MBunge huyo akongeza: "ikiwa Baraza limeomba lipatiwe msaada kutoka kwa Serkali Kuu na bado halijapatiwa, lazima litafute mbinu nyingine za kutafuta pesa ili kazi ya kuusafisha mji ianze mara moja na mji uonekane kuwa msafi".

Bw. Mzamil alimwomba Wazira wa Maji nayo ifanye taratibu za kumaliza tatizo la maji kwa wananchi wa mji huo. Alisema wananchi wa mji huo wamekumbwa na taabu ya maji kwa kipindi kirefu na sasa "umefika wakati wanahitaji tatizo hilo limalizwe".

Aliwasifu wananchi wa Lamu kwa utulivu na uvumilivu walionao na akawahakikisha kuwa, "Serkali yetu tukufu inawapanda wananchi wake na itafanya kila liwezekanalo kuhakikisha kwa wananchi maisha ya raha na furaha".

Rotary 'P. 2005' Aims To Eliminate Disease participate in this programme'.

The DG said he hoped this application might be approved before the end of this year, when he hoped to return to join in the launching of the Polio 2005 programme in Kenya.

Rotarians and their Anns, also Rotaractors and Interacs, together with health workers in this country, would be involved in a unified attempt to stamp out polio.

by NETA PEAL

Said the DG 'I am sure that this can be done'.

He referred to 'pilot schemes' which had been run in Sierra Leone, Haiti and Guatemala. 'After five years of systematic vaccination the incidence of paralytic poliomyelitis had been reduced by 95%'.

He revealed that it was a fellow Rotarian, Dr Albert Sabin of America, who had discovered this unique vaccine, after whom it had been named.

Said the DG 'he is now a Consultant to Rotary Foundations and visits various laboratories authorised to produce this vaccine to supervise and ensure that high standards are maintained'.

NEW VACCINES

Declared the DG 'We are thus quite sure that the vaccines when they come to Kenya will be of a standard required by the World Health Organisation'.

He called on Rotarians to start preparing themselves for 'total involvement in this programme'.

He said that a Polio 2005 Programme had been established in Zambia last year. So far about 3 1/2 million doses of vaccine had been received which will ensure the vaccination of all children requiring it. 'Hence', said the DG 'I am happy that this programme might be coming to Kenya as well, and I look forward to that day'.

In reply, a Past-District Governor, Rtn Jayanti Rajani, thanked the DG for his help in endeavouring to bring this polio programme to Kenya.

He told the DG that 'Mombasa has always been known for its multi-racial relationship. In 1944, when the Rotary Club of Mombasa was formed, it was the first in Africa, South of the Sahara, to have multiracial membership. It had been awarded a citation for this by Rotary International'.

He assured the DG that 'Rotarians in Mombasa will ensure that the flames of Rotary are always kept alive'.

The DG was then presented with a traditional brass Arab coffee pot by Ann Kala Patel, wife of the chairman of the Rotary Club of Kilindini, Sudev Patel.

Thanking Rotarians for their gift, the DG said he was most grateful for their overwhelming hospitality. He went on to describe the community work they are carrying out as 'outstanding'. 'He was sure that Rotary will prosper in this town and elsewhere at the Coast. He had been told, he said, that a new club at Diani is on the way, and that another may possibly open at Malindi.'

PORT REITZ SCHOOL

He has visited all ten Rotary Clubs in Kenya, and said he was extremely impressed by the work being carried out at Mombasa. Said the DG 'they are applying themselves to the principles of Rotary and are doing a fine piece of work for the community. He was particularly impressed by the provision of two classrooms at the Port Reitz School for the Physically Handicapped by the Rotary Club of Mombasa and by the Mtepeni Water Project undertaken by the Rotary Club of Kilindini, as lack of water had been hindering progress in the area.

District 920 covers twelve countries - Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania, Mauritius, Renunion, Madagascar, Zambia, Botswana, Comores and Seychelles.

DIANI BEACH CLUB

He said that membership in District 920 was increasing all the time and that since he took office as DG in July this year, two new Rotary clubs had opened and more were in the offing, including one at Diani Beach.

DEPUTY managing director Mr E.P. Baha was among 500 recipients of 'Long Service' certificates. He is seen receiving his certificate from Hon. William Saina, as managing director Mr J.S. Mumba looks on.

Rotary International approves extension of its Polio Programme to Kenya in this country over the next five years, will be fought against this dreaded disease which leaves many children crippled for life.

This was disclosed by Chris Oparaocha, Governor of Rotary International's District 920, Chief Guest at a joint dinner party hosted by the Rotary Clubs of Mombasa, Kilindini and Bahari at Nyali Beach Hotel.

The DG estimated that this would cost, for vaccines alone, in the region of nearly one million US Dollars.

The idea of such a programme was first mooted in 1975.

When marking its 75th birthday in 1980 a decision was taken by the Board of Rotary International that 'polio was a disease that Rotary as a movement, would fight to the bitter end'.

Said the DG 'hence the Polio 2005 Programme was launched with the sole and determined intention of eradicating Poliomyelitis in the world by the time that Rotary is 100 years old in the year 2005.'

He described this as a 'very bold move by any standards'. Poliomyelitis was frightening and dreaded illness with consequences which are often long-lasting and pitiful. It often resulted in paralysis of the limbs, wasting of the muscles and permanent crippling.

Declared the DG 'this disease is rampant in our community'.

He went on to say that Rotarians, worldwide, had pledged themselves to spend a minimum of US Dollars 30 million a year to provide vaccines to eradicate this disease'.

He disclosed that 'Kenya is now at a stage where we are compiling statistics to submit to the Trustees of Rotary International to enable us to parti-

BATA Shoe Chairman Hosts Nyali Reception

A MAGNIFICENT cocktail party was hosted by Bata Shoe Company (K) Ltd. at Nyali Beach Hotel giving some seventy guests the opportunity of meeting Thomas J. Bata, chairman of the worldwide Bata Shoe organisation during his six day visit to Kenya accompanied by his wife, Sonja.

Among the guests were major suppliers, government and civic leaders also those associated with the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Bata are from Canada where the international HQ of Bata is situated. It is a fast growing company with eighty factories and over 5,000 retail stores in the world.

The highlight of their visit to Kenya was to meet President Moi at State House, Nairobi.

Thomas Bata presented Shs. 75,000/- to the Kenyatta Heart Unit fund and Mrs. Sonja Bata Shs. 75,000/- to the Presidential Commission Tree Fund.

While at the coast, Mr. Bata visited their new factory at Voi which opened in September employing eighty people who will be producing over one million pairs of shoes a year.

Bata has 45 outlets in the Coast Province and Mr. Bata, who was last in Kenya in 1978, took a look at company operations and market conditions at the coast, as well as meeting local dignitaries and representatives of the business community.

Mr. and Mrs. Bata spent two days at Nyali Beach Hotel and among the places of interest visited was the Bamburi Nature Trail.

Giving them a conducted tour there was Rene Haller who transformed this disused lime quarry into something so beautiful to the environment which has won world acclaim. They were most impressed. Mrs. Bata feels that his methods could be used in many other countries of the world, as well as in other areas of Kenya.

Mrs. Bata is an international trustee of the World Wildlife Foundation. While a very tight schedule precluded visits to game parks during the six days she was here, Mrs. Bata was busy holding discussions on conservation and ecology with a number of leading personalities in these fields including the Minister for Tourism & Wildlife, Andrew Omanga, the Minister for Environment and Natural Resources, Jeremiah Nyagah, also Dr. Robert Malpas, Kenya representative of the World Wildlife Fund and International Union for Nature Conservation.

Shoe Museum

Mrs. Bata is in the process of establishing a Shoe Museum in Toronto, Canada, which will contain the largest collection of shoes in the world from biblical times to the 'Moon' boot with exhibits from countries all over the universe. Her project started five years ago and its official opening is expected to take place during 1986/7. In the meantime she is staging exhibitions throughout Canada and North America, in association with other museums of exhibits so far collected.

During her Kenya tour she was interested to see the development of shoemaking by the Maasai in the Narok area from 'traditional' footwear to something more 'mod' and made from old rubber tyres!

Samples will be going into the Shoe Museum in Canada.

Thomas Bata is also an Expert Advisor to the UN Commission on Transnational Corporations; chairman of the Committee on Development of the Business and Industry Advisory Committee to OECD and a member of the Executive Board of the International Chamber of Commerce, Paris.

Mr. Bata, who was last in Kenya in 1978, noticed how Mombasa had expanded, particularly in the industrial area. He feels there is even further potential for BATA to extend in the Coast Province and to create more job opportunities for wananchi.

Mombasa Yatch Club Hosts Sailors from Nigerian side

LAST weekend Mombasa Yatch Club again played international hosts, this time to a team from Lagos Yacht Club, Nigeria. The team of nine sailors crossed the African continent to contest the Safari Salver for the first time since 1977, writes Cruiser.

Four races were held, two on Saturday and two on Sunday, using six Ospres, and four Lasers, within the Harbour. With local knowledge of both the waters and the boats (Lagos primarily sail Hobie Cats), the odds were stacked against Lagos. Mombasa won all four Laser races outright; Charles Stein of Lagos having a particularly hard time - he found the best way to use a Laser is upside down for sunbathing!

The Osprey events were a much closer affair, Lagos improving with experience to win the last race, but lose the series 3 to 1. Mombasa's deadly duo of Manish Patel and Ian Smith performed exceedingly well to record three first places.

Lagos' best performer was Tom Binder with a first, two seconds and a third in his name.

The other members of the teams were: MYC, Trish and Brian Adams, Barry Mitchell, Tony Rowland, Dale Cumming, Chris Soper, Chris Barnes and Stuart Wilson; Lagos, Neil Wallis, Bernard Zimburg, Brian Mounsor, Phil and Pauline Freeman, and Debbie Reynolds.

The overall result was a clear win for Mombasa by seven races to one, and the safari Salver was presented to MYC Commodore Tony Rowland at the end of the racing on Sunday.

Lagos were not only here for the sailing, but the beer too, and the weekend also took in several social events, including a Darts Match (won by Lagos!), dinner at Libba's followed by a disco, and several curries. They would like to thank all who made their visit enjoyable, through their hospitality and friendliness.

On Monday Maureen Rowland organised a successful evening of Duplicate Bridge at the Club House. The winners were Mrs Pam Patrick and Gulamali Datoo (75 points) and joint second place was taken by Penny Davies partnered by Clive Barnsley, and Max Murray partnered by Johan de Ruiter (65 points).

Members are reminded that Christmas is coming: the Christmas Draw will be held on Wednesday 18 December, and the Children's Christmas Party on Saturday 21 December.

FORMER FIFA referee, Saidi Ali has announced that the Mombasa junior football league knock-out competition continue on Sunday when Feisal kids entertain Eleven Brothers at Bomani ground. Other teams taking part are Kaloleni Heroes, United Brothers, Briston Rovers, Black B. Rovers, Mangrove Cranes, Golden Arrow and league title holders, Manchester United. Saidi Ali informed COASTWEEK that the final game for this tournament is due to be held on December 29.

MSC in Top Form

MOMBASA Sports Club have become the first to the C.C.A. Kenyatta Day Tournament, inaugurated in C.C.A. Calendar this year, when they beat Union Criketers by thirty runs, last Sunday writes M.Y.F.

M.S.C. had scored 190 for eight wickets. Union Cricketers made a gallant attempt with Mukhtar scoring good loosing 35, Tommy Jr 24 and Mehboob 29. However, they fell short by 30 runs with seven overs to spare.

The match played in good spirit, would have come to a premature end when tempers flared up during the later part of the evening, as six of the Union batsmen were given marching orders.

However, maturity and cool temperament on the part of Union Captain Murad Khaku saved the situation. Bhanu Patel of M/s V. M. Patel presented the coveted trophy to the M.S.C. Captain at the end of the game.

This Weekend on Sunday, C.C.A. focus will be on the Jamhuri Cup semi finals.

Golden Boy Sony Sweeps Top Squash Honour

SCENE—STEALER at the first Open Handicap Squash Tournament to be held at Serena Beach Hotel's new Tennis and Squash School, was ten year old Sony Kandharia, a student at the Mombasa Academy, who won two trophies - one for being the most promising player and the other as runner-up in the 'Plate' event.

Sony only started playing squash in February this year. These were the first (and obviously not the last!) trophies for him to win.

Organising the tournament was Chris Holland who is resident coach at the Serena Beach Tennis and Squash School. He comes from Professional Tennis Services International (PTS) UK which specialises in supplying highly professional tennis coaches trained with the hotel and recreation industry specifically in mind.

The tournament was a 6-day event during which sixty matches were played. It attracted 42 entrants (32 men and ten women) and was hosted by Serena Beach Hotel.

Winning the Men's finals was Dakshesh Patel (15-9/15-14/15-11) after a very tense battle with Chris Groome - both vying for No.1 position in Mombasa.

Dakshesh not only received the winner's trophy but also a year's free membership of the Serena Squash Club (worth Shs. 1,000/-).

Winning the Ladies main event was Kay Carlin who beat Carolyn Searle 15-9/15-9.

In the Men's Plate, Sony was playing against a very experienced squash player, Iqbal Bhajji, and although Sony took the second set 15 minus 11, Iqbal won 2 sets to 1.

Ladies Plate winner was Nazira Esmail who beat Leela Chada 15-9/15-13.

A Presentation BBQ-Dance took place at Serena Beach Hotel on Saturday with Kay Carlin presenting the prizes. Kay's husband is John Carlin, the hotel's general manager, and it was he who presented his wife with her prize, and a kiss, amid considerable applause.

Speaking on behalf of players, Chris Groome, thanked the sponsors and particularly Chris Holland for what he described as 'the best organised squash tournament at the coast'. Adding 'we have never seen anything so well organised. It was quite fantastic and I am sure will encourage others to come forward to sponsor more tournaments here'.

The Serena Squash Club opened last week, a big attraction being the very cheap court rates offered to members, as well as the 'free' use of the gymnasium in its air-conditioned sports complex.

Said John Carlin 'Serena Beach was delighted to host this first Open Handicap Squash Tournament'. In thanking Chris Holland for arranging everything so well he said, amid cheers, 'I hope he will be with us for a long time to professionally organise many more tournaments here'.

Afterwards squash players and friends relaxed over a delicious BBQ and danced to the hotel's resident band.

Unbeaten Nyundo Thrash Chelsea in Mini - League

GURAYA'S NYUNDO FC who are the Mombasa District First Division League Champions, kept their unbeaten record intact when they defeated Mombasa Runners-up Chelsea of Kajioleni 3-1 in the Coast Provincial Mini League Encounter at Mombasa Municipal Stadium last weekend.

Nyundo are now leading Zone 'A' with maximum six points from their three matches they have played. They have scored a total of nine goals and conceded only three. Nyundo had previously beaten Nacet 1-0 and thrashed Simba 5-2.

Chelsea took the lead through a penalty spot kick taken by Hamdo but Nyundo replied through Abdul Majid before half time. In the second half, Nyundo got two more goals and the scorer of the two goals was none other than Swaleh 'Keegan'.

In the Mayor's Christmas Tree Fund Competition, Chelsea entertain Lake Warriors at Mombasa Stadium tomorrow while Feisal clash against Cargo on Sunday at the same venue. Mwenge meet Tudor United on Monday in the B.A.T. Cup while Nyundo face Chelsea on Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Manchester United clinched the Mombasa Junior Football League title when they defeated Falcon 1-0 in the final game held at Bomani Ground. The Junior League was organised by Former FIFA Referee, Saidi Ali who deserves special mention.

In the same group at Ukunda, Taifa Taveta Champions, Vii youngsters settled to a goalless draw with Kwale Champions Nacet while Taifa Runners-up Vii Post Office failed to turn up and their opponents, Kusale's Simba was given a walk-over 2-0 basis.

Since the start of this league, Coastweek has failed to obtain results for the Zone 'B' and we appeal to K.F.F. Sub-branches in Kilifi, Lamu and Tana River to furnish us with the results of games being played on their grounds.

In the B.A.T. Cup Soccer Competition, Kizwi Leopards who beat Kongwea 1-0 were knocked-out in the second round when they lost a 5-1 thrashing from Kenya Breweries (Mombasa) while Post Office defeated Simba 3-1 in another game.

TRIPLE CHAMP GOR

EMOTIONALLY - charged supporters of Gor Mahia FC, East and Central Africa Club Champions, cheered in jubilation when teh Voice of Kenya Soccer Commentator announced, the final whistle has been blown and Kenya Breweries had won the game 3-0 against AFC Leopards.

Thousands of soccer-mad Kenyans tuned their radios to listen to the outcome of the vital Leopards-Breweries game. Gor fans (though their team was not involved) looked happy all the way while Leopards supporters bowed their heads down as their team conceded 'goal after the other'.

Nothing, not even a 'miracle' could now deprive Gor Mahia from lifting the trophy (for keeps) though they have a 'Just formality' game on hand against Wanderers set for December 7 at Mombasa Stadium. Leopards have yet to play two games.

If Leopards wins their remaining two matches, they will have a total of 54 points while Gor Mahia have already collected 55 points. Gor Mahia, as defending champs and Leopards will represent Kenya in the East and Central Club Tourney in Tanzania early next year.

It was not the end of the road for the brewers as their 'Sweet and deserved win' against Leopards last Sunday, enabled them to qualify for the Africa Continental Club Tournament after seven year's absence. Breweries finished the league in third spot - Abdulrahman Sherif.

The following will represent The Select XI vs M.I. Colts in the Finals tomorrow Saturday November 30, at 5.00 p.m. on the M.I. Football Field: Denzil Dinez, Isabel Demello, Ritanne Desouza, Katan Nene, Monsaratt, Debby Delima, Jason Fernandes, Joanne Monteiro, Lyndon Abreu, Yotann Castanha.

This will be followed by Presentation of prizes, introduction of sports sections, lottery and dinner. The Function will wind up at 1 a.m.

VOLLEY

IN A special Primary School's end year volleyball tournament held in Changamwe, Magongo outplayed Makande, Bomu, Kongwea and Changamwe to lift the boys crown with the maximum of 8 points.

Changamwe, Makande, Kongwea and Bomu had to settle for 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 5th positions respectively. Changamwe girls used their wide experience to down Kongwea 3-2 in a tough final.

Earlier Kongwea routed Makande 3-0 and Changamwe bundled out Magongo 3-2. The trophies were donated by B.A.T. while Coca-Cola kindly donated cold drinks, writes Ahaya J. Ahaya.
