Gandhi Jayanti Day

AT ITS 61st session in June 2007, the United Nations adopted a resolution that would mark October 2 as the International Day of Non-Violence.

This date has more significance as it marks the birth date of Mahatma Gandhi the apostle for non-violence and the father of modern India.

Gandhi Jayanti has been celebrated every year in India since independence with great pride.

The High Commission of India in conjunction with UNON, marked the day with a brief event at the United Nations office in Gigiri that was attended by a select group of invitees that comprised ambassadors and high commissioners.

High Commissioner for India and the Permanent Representative to UNEP, UN-HABITAT India, His Excellency Sibabrata Tripathi welcomed all those who Wamalwa, Minister for Justice, National Cohesion and Constitutional Affairs who together with other, keynote speakers addressed the gathering.

Ms. Sahle Work Zewde, Director General, UNON gave a brief message on behalf of United Nations Director General Ban Ki Moon.

Deputy Executive Director UNEP Ms. Amina Mohamed and Ambassador John Lanyasunya, Director, Asia and Australasia Department, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of Kenya were also part of the panel of main guests.

Speaking from the heart, apartheid fighter and former judge on the Constitutional Court of South Africa (appointed by Nelson Mandela), Justice Albie Sachs described how Mahatma Gandhi gave the freedom movement in South Africa some kind of direction.

Justice Sachs who is currently a member of the Judges and Magistrates Vetting Board Kenya, reiterated how Gandhi alike. Some details from the past were also brought to light – how the new supreme court was built on the same site as an apartheid prison to underline the importance of the new constitution for the citizens of the country, and the Gandhi cap that many Indians wear with pride was actually a prison cap from South Africa.

When Gandhi and his compatriot Naidoo were imprisoned, they were told to wear the caps that the black prisoners had to wear.

Naidoo took that as an affront but Gandhi explained to him that all these prisoners were their brothers and they should wear the cap in solidarity with their fellow South Africans.

On his return to India, Gandhi brought this little cap and it became a rage all over the country.

Hon. Eugene Wamalwa, Minister for Justice, National Cohesion and Constitutional Affairs and High Commissioner for India and the Permanent Representative to UNEP, UN-HABITAT India, His Excellency Sibabrata Tripathi congratulate each other on the successful celebration of Gandhi Jayanti day which is also marked as the official Non-Violence day by the United Nations worldwide. The event was held at the United Nations offices in Gigiri.

attended and gave a brief history of the Mahatma, who has been a source of inspiration to many, including Nelson Mandela and Martin Luther King.

Deputy High Commissioner Tammya Lal then exhibited a short slide show on the Mahatma.

Chief guest was Hon. Eugene and Nelson Mandela did not just want to liberate South Africans from the apartheid regime, but also to liberate the oppressors from their closed thinking.

He gave a moving account of post-independence South Africa and how the Truth and Justice committee helped give closure to the oppressors and oppressed

RETIRED CIA AGENT NEESON FACES WRATH OF KIDNAPPERS IN 'TAKEN 2'

Sridevi Back On Screen With 'English Vinglish'

AFTER A break of 14 years, during which time she got married and had her kids, Sridevi is back on the silver screen.

One of south India's biggest export to Mumbai, Sridevi has some major hits to her credit, giving it all up to become director Boney Kapoor's second wife.

She has been cast in the lead role of debutant director Gauri Shinde and producer R. Balki (director of the award winning Paa and Cheeni Kum), English Vinglish, opening at the NYALI CINEMAX this week.

Living in Pune, Shashi is the typical Marathi wife.

Her home and family take priority, and though she is clever, she does not speak English very well giving her an inferior complex in a country where speaking English is a status symbol.

To please her husband and family, she enrolls for English classes and thus begins a journey that will take her, and the audience, through a light-hearted and touching journey that transforms this meek housewife into someone she never thought she would become.

Other stars in the film are French actor Mehdi Nebbou, Adil Hussain, Priya Anand and Sujata Kumar while Amitabh Bachchan has a guest appearance in it.

English Vinglish will be released in Hindi, Tamil and Telugu and was received very well at its gala premiere at the 2012 Toronto International Film Festival.

In the first version, the daughter of retired CIA agent Bryan Mills is kidnapped by a group of Albanians.

Mills uses his special skills acquired at the agency to rescue his daughter and eliminating the gang.

Now the father of one of the kidnappers wants 'an eye for an eye' and kidnaps Bryan and his wife while they are on holiday in Istanbul.

It is now the turn of Bryan's daughter Kim to make use of all the tactics she learnt from her father to save her parents.

With Neeson in this Olivier Megaton direction (Transporter 3, Colombiana) are Famke Janssen and Maggie Grace.

Please note that this film is unsuitable for children under 16.

American entertainer Kate Perry gives you a rare insight into her private life in the docu-drama Kate Perry: Part of Me, which also opens at the NYALI CINEMAX this week.

Filed in three dimension, it also features Shannon Woodward, Lucas Kerr and Mia Moretti.

Jeremy Renner is the brand new Jason Bourne in The Bourne Legacy which also stars Rachel Weisz and Edward Norton and is running for the second week at the NYALI CINEMAX.

Umesh Shukla's direction of Oh My God has Paresah Rawal, Akshay Kumar, Nidhi Subbaiah and Mithun Chakraborty in the lead.

Shukla has adapted his hit Gujarati play Kanji virudh Kanji for the silver screen.

One show each on Sunday and Tuesday of Heroine with Kareena Kapoor while cousin Ranbir Kapoor will not fail to entertain in Barfi on Sunday and Thursday.

Our very own Kenyan production, direction and stars of Nairobi Half Life are back by public demand.

African Cinema

Tosh Gitonga's film has received some great reviews and has earned a place in UK's largest annual festival that celebrates African cinema and culture.

Film Africa begins on November 1 and runs for ten days.

Nairobi Half Life has also been submitted to the 2013 Oscars by Kenya's first ever Oscar committee.

Last shows of Brave on Saturday and Sunday with Friends and Family offer.

Doctors attend to some of the patients who flocked Takaungu Primary School for the free medical camp organised by XFOR security last weekend.

Free Medical Camp For Villagers Of Takaungu

Residents of Takaungu village in Kilifi County braced a sigh of relief last weekend when XFOR Security Solutions, a private security firm provided a free medical camp that treated various ailments.

Over 500 locals jammed the Takaungu Primary School grounds for the free medical check-up clinic organised jointly between the security firm, Mombasa Eye Hospital and the Rotary Club of Bahari.

"We are indebted to the community in which we operate in and decided as one way of saying thank you was to have this medical camp here", XFOR Chief Executive Officer, Gary Lincoln-Hope said.

The CEO added that they are hoping to partner with other like-minded organisations and hold free medical camps after every fortnight in different remote locations within the Coast region.

"You cannot neglect medical welfare of the masses at any given time hence we decided to chip in together with others," he said.

Patients benefited from eye checks, dental extractions and some were treated for infections that required antibiotics.

For Margaret Charo aged 45, the on-going doctors' strike had rendered her unattended for a tooth ailment until the arrival of the free medical camp.

"I am grateful to XFOR for this kind gesture at a time when we have no doctors in public hospitals to attend to us as they are on a nationwide strike," she said.

AN EASY DIAGNOSTIC TESTING PROCEDURE

When a swelling is discovered in the body, a test known as Fine Needle Aspiration (FNA) is recommended.

These swellings occur in many parts of the body including the neck, the breast and organs inside the body like the liver or the kidney.

This test is able to determine whether these swellings in the body have cancer or not. Most of the time, these diseases that can be tested by FNA are infections of the lymph glands, salivary glands, goitre of the thyroid, infections in the breast and many others.

Dr Maureen Waitthaka, a senior resident in Anatomic Pathology at Aga Khan University Hospital, Nairobi, explained, "Patients who have swellings in various parts of the body are referred by their primary doctor to a pathologist who carries out the FNA procedure on an Outpatient basis in the laboratory."

"The procedure involves inserting of a needle, usually the size of an office pin or smaller, into the swelling. The needle is used to obtain a sample of the swelling.

"The material that is sampled is composed of cells, which are then put on a glass slide. A pathologist looks at this glass slide under a microscope, and renders a diagnosis of the swelling."

"The FNA has numerous benefits, apart from being fast and accurate, it is safe.

"The diagnosis is given to the primary doctor within 48 hours, enabling treatment to be administered. The procedure leaves no scars and requires no admission."

"Many patients are anxious about the pain associated with this procedure because it involves inserting a needle into a part of the body. Although the procedure is not painless, the pain is minor and well-tolerated.

"A local anaesthetic spray can be used to reduce the discomfort even further. Another common worry with patients with a swelling that is cancer is that having an FNA done will cause spread of the cancer.

"This is rare and should not prevent the FNA procedure from being done."

"In a nutshell, FNA is a fairly simple laboratory test useful for rapid diagnosis of lumps that offers great advantage to both patients and doctors alike.

The FNA clinic at Aga Khan University Hospital's Main Laboratory is conducted every weekday from 9.00 am to 12.30 am, at AKUH.N Thika Medical Centre every first and third Thursday of the month from 9.00 am to 10.00 am and in Machakos Medical Centre, every second Thursday of the month from 9.00 am to 12.00," concluded Dr Waitthaka.

STARCAST GEMINI KILIFI

Virgo (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Emotional dependency is creating problems in a close relationship. You're a highly capable person, but need to stop giving your power away to a partner. By spending more time on your own, you'll realise it isn't necessary to have a partner to survive.

Libra (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Worrying about the future is pointless. Let go of your anxiety and go with the flow. Model your behaviour after a laid back friend who has lots of fun. Your good fortune will start to flow.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's time to break off a bad relationship. You want someone who is fully engaged with you. Competing for someone's attention has no appeal. You'll be amazed how much better you feel when you get a little distance from this romantic union.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21)
You long to insulate yourself from reality. Bickering over petty matters has you bored stiff. If you're in an intimate relationship, take a separate holiday from your other half. Are you single?

Stop letting your family comment on your personal life.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 20)
Daydreaming undermines your productivity. Assemble a list of things to do and set deadlines by which to perform each task. Have colleagues keep you accountable. Beware about sending emails and leaving voicemails.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Money won't bring the emotional security you crave. You feel anxious, but don't understand why. A little intellectual stimulation will give you the grounding you need. You've been blessed with a remarkable brain.

Pisces (Feb. 20 - Mar. 20)
You're hypersensitive to family criticism. If you're going to thrive with this crowd, you'll have to develop a thicker skin. Be ready to tease people who are constantly picking on you.

Aries (Mar. 21 - Apr. 20)
Stop paying attention to your inner critic. Listening to this nagging voice will stop you expressing yourself freely. If you're going to make progress in relationships, you have to be honest. Of course, that doesn't give you license to roughshod over others.

Taurus (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Beware of trying to fit in all the time. You can't sacrifice your individuality for the sake of popularity. If you're going to distinguish yourself in the workplace, you have to challenge the status quo.

Gemini (May 22 - June 21)
A desire for achievement is making your life miserable. There will be times when you achieve distinction and periods when you operate in obscurity. Don't let your happiness depend on getting favourable publicity.

Cancer (June 22 - July 21)
You're afraid to venture into unfamiliar territory. If you're going to thrive in your desired field, you'll have to experience some rejection. That's just part of the price you pay for pursuing a dream.

Leo (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Power struggles over an inheritance are driving you to distraction. Don't get drawn into a big family argument. You may get cut out of an inheritance, but you have the ability to make your own cash.

Nyali CINEMAX ...the ultimate movie experience...

Well Prepared Documentation Is Key That Will Lead To Smooth Clearance Of Goods

In both instances, I have had both good and bad experiences but the causes were both common.

In the first instance when importing some clothes for myself which I had ordered from an internet catalogue and was sent to me through a friend in the country if manufacture, I had all sorts of issues in that the customs agents especially would not believe the declared value.

They contested it and did their own valuation which was almost the full cost I had paid for the clothes.

My buddy, to whom the items had been sent originally in the country of origin, decided he would send them at zero value.

The customs officials refused to accept this and they would not accept any suggestions I had even when I showed them the cost on my iPad, which I happened to have handy at the time.

I had no leg to stand on and then paid the customs valuation.

The same happened when a charity organisation sent some medical equipment for my club to disburse to needy causes in the community around where we operated.

The medical equipment were items that had been scrapped from hospitals that were upgrading their hardware.

The charity organisation was that one has to prepare the paperwork early-and consult various agencies to ensure that whatever was being claimed would be tenable.

For the personal imports, I asked for future ones to be sent either using a known and reputable courier company or to be sent with the manufacturers receipt.

This would ensure that we were credible in the customs officer's views.

In the case of the charity shipment, we had to go to each of the offices that we had visited to present our case and give them an undertaking that the material that was coming in would not be diverted into the local market on a "pro-profit" basis whilst hospitals suffered.

We got waivers from all of them and we were then able to bring the equipment in batches as had been agreed and they would be received with agents of all the waiver granting agents present and would then be locked up in a supervised store.

Every time we had to get material out to donate, all the agents had to be there and more often than not they accompanied us to the recipient areas.

This relationship developed well and we were able to supply almost two hundred tonnes of equipment over the time that the agreement stood.

Their key lesson here is that well prepared documentation that is done in consultation with the players who will be involved in the clearing of the goods, will lead to a smooth clearing of goods at airports.

As Kachumbari says, preparedness is the main part of success.

collected such discarded equipment, overhauled them to as new condition and then sent them to us through a friendly airline that charged to no fee at all.

Essentially, as far as we were concerned, the items had no value as they were scrapped from the original owners, the repairs had been done free of charge by the charity and the transportation by air was free.

We declared the first consignment by ourselves and put a zero on all points as we truly believed that it was such an obvious case that no-one would question the so called facts.

The customs agents did. As in the first example they refused to accept that equipment in such good condition would have no value.

They proceeded to use their own estimation process that ended up with the equipment costing quite a bit of money on the basis of assigning a residual value and then calculating all the import levies on that basis.

The final sum was almost the sum of the clubs total money and the savings of at least half of the membership required as well.

REQUIREMENTS

It was clearly an untenable situation so it was decided that we would not take the items but rather appeal to the Minister responsible so that he could waive the duty requirements.

This process took the best part of three months to complete.

After a lot of to-ing and fro-ing and shuttling between several Ministries that each had to put their little bit of conventional wisdom on the case, the Minister finally gave us the waiver but charged us a sum which would remain at the back of our minds as a lesson.

For both cases, the learning

We last covered the issue of immigration at the East African borders as we continued to examine the ease of travel from the personal documentation point of view.

However, I cannot move away from East Africa before I complete the issue of border crossing for trade purposes.

For this we will briefly examine the same points of entry namely land, air and water or sea.

The most efficient trade entry points in terms of minimum time spent are air entry points - as was the case with personal entry.

Because of severe competition for international trade our air points of entry (or exit as the case may be) have to be efficient.

They are not then the business people or tourists and other people who are potentially important to the economy will choose to go where there is less hassle to access.

I have had occasion to import items by air and also to receive donated items for charity purposes.

Mombasa Maritime Conference To Launch Africa Shipping Plan

MOMBASA (Xinhua) -- Senior maritime officials from 30 African countries are set to meet in Kenya's coastal city of Mombasa this week to launch a master plan for the continents' re-entry into the global shipping industry and assume its rightful place in the community of maritime nations.

Kenya Maritime Authority (KMA) said the Inaugural African Maritime Authorities meeting which will be attended by the CEOs from over 30 countries, is following up to resolution reached in Dalian, China in October 2011 at a workshop organized by the Chinese government for Heads of Maritime Administrations.

The Dalian meeting enjoined participants to hold joint regular meetings as a forum to advance Africa's maritime agenda as envisaged in the African Maritime Transport Charter.

"The conference will provide an interactive platform for discussion, sharing of experience and cross-fertilization of ideas on how best to enable a paradigm shift on the future of African maritime industry," said KMA Director-General Nancy Karigithu on Wednesday.

She said the conference will provide an unprecedented opportunity for maritime authorities to execute joint articulation and implementation of a continental approach in developing among others an overall investment capacity, maritime governance structures and participation in ocean transport within the continent.

The Mombasa meeting is also bolstered by the African Union 1st Conference of African Ministers responsible for maritime related affairs which was held back-to-back with the 4th African cross-sectional maritime experts' workshop at its headquarters in Addis Ababa Ethiopia in order to formulate 2050 Africa Integrated Maritime Strategy.

The African Ship-Owners Summit held in Accra Ghana from April 10-12 and attended by delegates from across the continent recommended a unified approach to address the African Maritime Sector in order to achieve a strategic take-off to deliberate on structures for collaboration in the maritime industry at a continental level and also deliberate on structures for collaboration in the maritime industry at a continental level.

The Summit thus resolved that a conference for Heads of African Maritime Administrations and Ship Registrars held in Mombasa.

"We extend our invitation to all the CEOs, Ship Registrars and legal managers of Maritime Administrations in Africa to the meeting which is a landmark event for the continents future placement in the shipping industry," Kenya's Transport Minister Amos Kimunya said ahead of the conference.

The conference is being organized by Kenya Maritime Authority (KMA), South Africa Maritime Safety Authority (SAMSA) and African Ship Owners Association (ASA) with facilitation by the International Maritime Organization (IMO).

The conference is a response to the continents unimpressive share of global investments in the maritime industry despite its significant contribution to global maritime cargo and the renewed

Kipevu Oil Refinery Eyes Major Expansion Project

MOMBASA (Xinhua) — East Africa's sole refinery, the Kenya Petroleum Refineries Limited (KPRL), is considering a mixture of financing models to undertake a multi-billion-dollar engineering re-design of its plant in Mombasa, to handle more complex operations in future, company executive said on Wednesday.

KPRL CEO Brij Mohan Bansal said the firm's Board of Directors is due to meet to approve a 1.2-billion-U.S.-dollar refinery facility upgrade and a new engineering design that will enhance the facility's crude oil refining capacity within the next three years.

The plant upgrade is geared towards achieving greater operational efficiency at the refinery because this will enable it to blend crude oil from cheaper sources to produce a high-grade refined oil.

"When the board approves the new engineering design, we will begin to arrange funds. This process could take up to 12 months, including the award of the tender before the start of the upgrade," Bansal disclosed.

The refinery is to identify a banker or a fundraiser for the upgrade of the facility. The facility refines 40 percent of Kenya's processed oil products.

The firm is due to commission a 9.2 Megawatt power plant, running on fuel oil, to help in dealing with interruptions that often occur when electricity goes off, leading to system failures and short-circuiting equipment.

The 17-million-dollar facility is currently undergoing a pre-launch run in readiness for its official opening in November.

Bansal said it will enable the refinery to remain sufficiently reliant on its own energy and the surplus will be sold to other users within the oil industry.

"We are also installing new pump facilities to be able to pump more refined oil to the Kenya Pipeline Corporation (KPC) to enhance more efficiency in the oil industry," the CEO said. "We are using a mixture of debt and equity financing for the upgrade," Bansal said.

Once the process is complete, the firm expects foreign lenders to the funds to enable the expansion and upgrade of the facility to kick start.

"We are ready to commission the new power plant this month. All the benefits that we expect to gain as a result of these operational efficiencies would be passed on to the Exchequer," Bansal said.

The refinery is owned on a 50-50 basis between the Kenyan government and India's Essar Energy.

It recently shifted from a toll-refinery, raising its operational revenue by charging oil marketing firms for the cost of refining crude oil, to a merchant refinery, which owns the crude oil it refines.

"The constant power failures is a safety issue on the lifespan of the equipment at our facility," said John Mruttu, the General Manager at the Refinery, which currently handles 4,000 tonnes of crude oil daily.

Mruttu said the refinery was currently taking steps to bring its production capacity to the best possible standards compared to other refineries, noting that while the rate of power blackouts has reduced by half from 60 to about 30 this year, there are chances of improving the facility further.

KPRL runs two processing units but the second unit has been idling due to the need for more efficiency in the processing of the crude.

Bansal said the idling of the second crude oil processing plant was meant to create more operational efficiency and cut on the production costs.

"The situation should normalize in a month and normal operations would resume but we are currently able to achieve 133,000 tonnes of crude oil per day, which is an efficiency gain," Bansal said.

SIMBA ENERGY EXPECTS NEW OIL FINDS IN WAJIR

NAIROBI (Xinhua) — Canadian oil and gas firm Simba Energy said on Wednesday that it expects to strike oil reserves of over 1 billion barrels in Kenya's north eastern region of Wajir.

The Canadian company said data from passive seismic research that has been completed has indicated large potential for Block 2A, the company's block that measures 7,000 square km.

"An independent seismic evaluator estimated that we are likely to get 2 billion barrels from one of our most promising wells."

"But my own estimation is that we are assured of a half of this amount," said James Dick, the Chief Technical Officer of Simba Energy in a briefing in Nairobi.

He said the block owned by the company is surrounded by "significant oil and gas" reserves based on seismic data gathered by the company and other prospecting companies in the area that include Africa Oil, Marathon Oil and Taipan.

Simba Energy which is a listed Canadian company has already signed a production sharing contract with the Kenyan government.

The company said it expects to start drilling in the next eight months, starting with the well located in south of the Wajir County that has showed greatest potential.

The new finding if confirmed will make Kenya a key new player in the continent's oil business in the next five years when production is likely to start.

Earlier this year, Tullow Oil reported commercially viable oil reserves in Turkana, an arid area north west of Kenya.

The reserves there are estimated to be 3 billion barrels.

The company has also started drilling another well not far from the confirmed Ngamia 1 well and has reported it also holds high prospects for striking reserves.

There are currently more than 10 companies prospecting for oil and gas in Kenya's offshore and onshore blocks, part of the rush to explore virgin lands of east Africa for oil and gas.

Already, oil finds have been confirmed in Kenya and a gas find in Tanzania.

NAKURU (Xinhua) – Two rhinos walk in the Lake Nakuru National Park, Kenya. Kenya launched a strategy on Wednesday, defining a goal of raising the quantity of black rhinos in the country to at least 750 by the end of 2016. The African black rhino is currently listed as "critically endangered" on the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) Red List.

KWS Launches Conservation Strategy For Rare Black Rhino

By Chris Mgidu NAIROBI (Xinhua) – Kenya Wildlife Service (KWS) has launched a five-year conservation and management strategy for the black rhino in the East African nation.

The strategy to be managed from 2012-2016 is the fifth edition of its kind of the Rhino Strategic Plan which re-focuses efforts on rhino conservation despite the ever increasing challenges.

"The strategy defines a revised overall goal of conserving at least 750 black rhinos by the end of 2016, achieving at least a 5 percent national growth rate with less than one per-cent man-induced and disease-related deaths," KWS Chairman Davis Mwiraria said in a statement received on Monday.

Kenya has intensified its anti-poaching efforts by increasing the rhino ranger force by more than 25 percent during 2011, converting rhino scouts on private lands into Kenya Police

Reservists, offering formal training of community scouts in wildlife protection, using sniffer dogs for monitoring and relocating rhinos from areas of high risk to areas of low risk.

Early this year, the wildlife agency launched a 10-year national elephant conservation and management aimed at protecting largest land animal.

The government initiated the development of the strategy after realizing the need to have a well coordinated approach to deal with emerging challenges of illegal killings of elephant for their ivory as well as the loss of available elephant range resulting from Kenya's growing human population.

The Black Rhino Strategic Plan has maintained Kenya's vision to conserve at least 2,000 black rhinos in the wild.

It places emphasis on: protection and law enforcement, monitoring for management, biological management, population expansion, awareness and public support and coordination and capacity.

These objectives will be coordinated by a steering committee whose main role will be to monitor implementation of the Strategic Plan. Mwiraria lauded the strategy as a great milestone in rhino conservation and management in this country.

KWS Director Julius Kipng'etich assured Kenyans and the world that KWS has put into place all the necessary security measures to protect and conserve the charismatic species.

"KWS has increased the rhino to ranger ratio to 1:2 while in some private ranches such as the Ngulia Sanctuary, the ratio is 1:1 to ensure maximum protection for the rhinos," Kipng'etich added.

He also gave a stern warning to poachers that KWS would deal severely with them and do what it takes to protect the country's wildlife.

It is reported that around 700,000 firearms in the country is in the wrong hands, greatly fuelling the poaching menace.

African black rhino is currently listed as "critically endangered" on the IUCN Red List.

Over the last 20 years in particular, considerable money and other resources have been expended in several African countries aimed at saving the black rhino from extinction.

As a result, the declining trend has been reversed and numbers are slowly increasing.

Kenya has become a major player in Africa in rhino conservation with the third largest black rhino population after South Africa and Namibia.

As at the end of 2011, Kenya had 623 black rhinos while Africa had a total of 4,880 black rhinos.

However, illegal demand for rhino horn resulting in poaching was, and continues to be, the major threat to the existence of all African rhino species.

It is speculated that the increase in poaching results from countries where rhino horn is purported to cure cancer and other diseases. While scientists have proven that the rhino has no medicinal value, the myths remain putting rhino horns in high demand.

The enormous run up began when several big investors, which included three major Swiss banks and West Germany's powerful Dresdner Bank, decided to hedge against inflation by switching some of their paper currency holdings into what they regarded as the world's most tangible asset.

K.P.A. Corporate Golf Day

Kenya Ports Authority (KPA) celebrated their 30th year with a superbly organised, well sponsored and hugely supported corporate golf day at the Nyal Golf and Country Club on Saturday 29 September.

Over 160 members and another 40 guests participated in one of the most cherished annual events in the calendar.

The weather was favourable which was a blessing as it is always a serious challenge to get so many flights-of-four golfers around the 18 holes before sunset and the forecast onset of the El Nino has yet to materialise.

Guest of Honour for KPA, playing off an extremely respectable handicap of 10 was the Minister of Transport, the Honourable Amos Kimunya who started with two opening pars, had three more pars in the middle of his round and finished with a flourish with yet another two pars on 17 and

18. His score of 32 was only good enough to feature in the top 20 per cent of the players but this was, he explained later, because he didn't want to outshine and outscore the Chairman.

GOLF report from CUNICULUS

Scoring overall was almost up to the European Ryder Cup squad's performance (congratulations to a superb effort in retaining the trophy with a one point victory over the American team 14.5-13.5) with 18 players scoring 36 points or better and it continues to impress all the 'mzee' players at how good some of the coast-based young golfers have become.

The diminutive Agil Is-haq has the inner strength of a tiger and was superb in shooting 40 points (gross 80 with a 13 handicap) that was actually the second best score in the whole field that included eight pars and one birdie (two-club on the sixth).

Unsurprisingly, another of our talented youth, Daniel Nduva smashed a ball down the 16th fairway for the Men's Longest Drive and young Nicholas Soares (also playing off a 13 handicap) managed 38 points but due to the prize allocations he didn't actually feature amongst the winners although his new handicap is now cut to 12.

Best visiting guest was A. Matheka who fired 11 pars and two birdies in an excellent round of 74 gross that netted him 39 points.

Jon Stokes shook off the disappointment of signing for an incorrect score last week in the best possible way with a solid 38 points (all present, signed and accounted for) that leapt him up the prize winners list to the "Winner Men" but not quite to the most coveted position of "Winner Overall" that went to Mombasa Golf Club's Captain, Simon Maina who managed another Ryder Cup performance with nine pars and two birdies in his winning total of 39 points (gross 74).

However, not to be forgotten in any capacity, Charles Odoo whose tremendous efforts on the side of KPA as their PR man, playing as a Staff Member of KPA and not for the NGCC Members prizes had a truly amazing round of golf.

Playing off a 21 handicap he had only one double bogie, six on the dog-leg eighth and managed pars on the par-five first and 11th for a superb 41 points and a two shot cut to his handicap as well as earning the respect of scoring more points than the overall winner!

Prize giving was a lengthy affair due partly to the number of speakers and the obvious fact that an election is just around the corner but the function was very well attended and followed by a delicious spread of food and gallons of complimentary alcohol....

But as the Honourable Minister of Transport reminded everyone, beware the extremely punitive fines for anybody caught drinking and driving that the President will very shortly be signing into the Laws of Kenya.

If you must drink, have a nominated "Driver" who stays off the "hard-stuff" or better still have a taxi or chauffeur to drive you home as cars actually don't know

Ethiopia Crush Kenya In Friendly

ETHIOPIA crushed Kenya 5-0 in a women's international friendly match played in Addis Ababa last Sunday.

Kenya thought they had prepared well enough and after a week and half camping in Mombasa but could not match the Ethiopians who trained together for the past two years.

The superior Ethiopians were using the friendly to prepare for the forthcoming African Women's Championships, a competition the Kenyans have never come close to qualifying for.

Ethiopia are grouped in Pool 'B' with champions Nigeria, Cote d'Ivoire and Cameroon.

The tournament hosts, Equatorial Guinea are in Pool 'A' with South Africa Senegal and DRC Congo.

Harambee Stars dependable defender, Terry Ouko was the best player in the Kenyan team during their friendly international friendly match against Ethiopia.

Shetay Sisay hit a hat-trick while Rehema Zerga scored a brace as the polished Ethiopians taught Kenya a soccer lesson.

"Our team has been together for the last two years.

"We are now confident that we will record good results in the African Championship," said Ethiopian head coach Abraham Tekle Haymanot.

"We have experienced players. Some of them have been in the national team for the last eight and others 10 years."

Ten years ago, Kenya and Ethiopian women had met in an international with Kenya winning the tie 4-1.

In the Addis Ababa match, Kenya's tall defender, Terry Ouko starred for the visitors as she managed to foil many scoring attempts by the home team strikers.

SERBIAN COACH SEARCHES FOR SOCCER CLUB

A Serbian coach who has handled several top clubs in Africa is looking for a club to coach in Kenya.

Dragan Popadic said he was ready to offer his services with any Kenyan club if he was offered an opportunity.

Popadic who failed to secure an opportunity with Kampala's Uganda Revenue Authority by a whisker, said it was only Kenya that he had not coached among the three East African nations.

He won two national championships and the Eastern and Central Africa Champions Cup (Cecafa CUP) with Tanzanian side, Simba SC.

Popadic also won the Ugandan league title with Express Kampala and guided Petro Atletico Luanda to lift the National Cup Angola.

He has also handled the Rwanda national team, Amavubi.

His latest assignment was between 2010 and last year when he handled Kinga Faisal Babes of Ghana, a top Premier League side.

Prior to returning to Africa to coach Babes, Popadic was the head coach for FC Al Oman for five years.

Others clubs he coached in the Middle East are FC Al Libya and FK Macva of Serbia. His football career has seen him coach on three different continents in addition to having a successful professional playing career in the top leagues of Holland, Belgium, Turkey and Serbia.

Bandari And Bidco Face Off

All roads will lead to Mbaraki Sports Club tomorrow when favourites Bandari FC and their main challengers Bidco United FC faces each other in a National Division One League zone 'A' top of the table clash.

Bandari, who returned home from their Nairobi tour with maximum six points last weekend, starts the match slightly favoured to snatch all the three points as they are expected to be cheered by majority of the fans to attend the match.

Bandari who are leading the table with 69 points from 32 matches have a gap of 12 points over their closest rivals, Bidco United who however have two games on hand.

The Mombasa team has the highest number of goals scored 53 and conceded the lowest, just 17 goals against Bidco United knows very well that this is a crucial match for them because if they lose it, their chances to match the Portsmen team will be over.

Bandari under the guidance of Flishadi Shedu, also knows they have to win to improve their hopes to win the crown.

"We want to win this match because it is important to us in our mission to win the title and an automatic place in the country top Kenya Premier League (KPL) next season," said Shedu immediately after beating Kariobangi Sharks 1-0 in Nairobi.

Fourth placed Administration

Celtics in a match they are favoured to easily win and improve their place in the league standing.

The match takes place at Tudor Day secondary school ground tomorrow.

Prior to that clash at the same venue, Coast United who are trying their best never to slip to relegation zone, meet Moyas

United clash.

Congo is slightly favourites to emerge victors.

Green Berets play KRA at Ruiri ground.

Magongo Rangers and Sparki Youth, who are in danger zone, will be fighting to get back to safer places when they play their matches on Sunday.

Magongo Rangers meet Kibera

Police will go flat out to beat sixth positioned Kariobangi Sharks tomorrow and pray Bandari edge Bidco United so they can jump to second spot.

The match to take place in Machakos is expected to be a thriller.

Sixth placed Admiral, another Coastal team bracketed in the top ten places, tackle Kibera from Nairobi.

Coast United will have a difficult time to beat Moyas who have improved a lot since second leg started.

Congo United, currently lying eighth in the table entertain seventh placed Ligi Ndogo in what is expected to be a thrilling encounter at Mbaraki Sports Club, prior to Bandari - Bidco

Celtic at Refinery ground with Sparki Youth to play host to Bidco United at yet to be known venue.

Coast United will have another tough match against Ligi Ndogo at Tudor Day secondary school ground on Sunday.

The same day, Iron Strikers play Green Berets at Marist ground and Nairobi Stima entertain atundu Stars at Stima Club.

Nicodemus Odipo Still Topping Scorers Chart

Harambee Stars coach Henri Michel says that top Kenya Premier League (KPL) lacks good scorers, a problem that has affected the national team's performance in the regional tournaments.

Now Mombasa Polytechnic coach, Joseph 'Yebo' Sihuli wants the French tactician try South Coast provincial top scorer, Nicodemus Odipo.

"I request Michel to give a try to Odipo to prove his worth in the national team.

"Odipo is a great scorer and should be recalled to strengthen the national team's blunt striking force", said Yebo.

Blunt striking has affected the national team's performance.

In the absence of lead striker Dennis Oliech, the Stars have been known to struggle with finishing.

Nicodemus Odipo, current top scorer.

Odipo, the second year Business Administration student is currently Coast provincial league top marksman having bagged in 19 goals from 17 matches, an average of one goal per match.

Odipo is the hero of four hat-tricks in the season and only sky is the limit.

He is followed by Musa Tumaini of SS Assad who has 14 goals while Shanzu United's Sunday Ngala and Abdalla Mohamed Abubakar of Floring have 12 goals each.

Those with 10 goals each are Jabir Yusuf of West Ham and Salim 'Mudigo' Kassim of Oceania.

Ernest Mutonyi (Tiki Taveta), Nduta Ndambuki (Super Eagles), Yusuf Nassoro (Lit Samba), Dennis Lewa (Coast Stima), Swaleh Marere (Dream Team) and Willy Lugogo (Shanzu United) have nine goals apiece.

Koehler's First Concoors Victory

Matthias Koehler achieved his first overall car victory in the CBA Africa Concoors d'Elegance with his gleaming burgundy red highly prepared 1972 Jaguar E type.

This iconic classic sports coupe first appeared in the classiest competitive motor sport event last year and brought Koehler to the prize podium with third place.

The overall motorcycle winner was Sati Jabal with a 1925 DKW which tied with Rick Agagliate's 1937 competition Moto Guzzi bike.

Following the Concoors rules the advantage was given to the older machine and Sati took home first prize.

While the Alfa Romeo Owners Club prepared for the Concoors Matthias Koehler has been painstakingly improving the external finish, interior and the massive V12 engine of his Jaguar.

His meticulous preparation paid off with a commanding victory.

Koehler finished four points ahead of the Phoenix Aviation 1928 Ford which has taken first place twice.

The 2011 winner Diccon Wilcock had to be content with third place in his 1934 Rialton, but he had the satisfaction of winning the class for pre 1940 cars with his ancient British sports car.

Gavin Walton and Bevan Beckmann who were representing the Vintage Motorcycle Club of South Africa for the first time had a very successful outing.

The 1936 AJS street bike of Gavin Walton attracted an admiring crowd of spectators and was placed third overall. This impressive result also earned him first place in the up to 650cc class for street motor cycles.

Bevan Beckmann gave CBA Africa Concoors d'Elegance spectators the first opportunity to view a Ducati at the Nairobi Racecourse and he earned the prize for second place in the up to 900cc class.

Beckmann was also selected for a meritorious award and was delighted with his results.

The eight MG sports cars from Australia accompanied by one from England and one from South Africa were constantly thronged by Concoors fans.

The MG drivers spoke warmly about the enthusiasm of the crowd, the Nairobi Racecourse venue and the organisation of the event.

The participants receive 20 cartons of water and 10 tins of glucose from Kenya Maritime Authority.

Teams Battle For Shahbal Super Cup League Victory

The tough clamour for constituency level supremacy was displayed yet again during the Suleiman Shahbal Super Cup league as rival teams put up fierce fights against each other.

The matches are a continuation of the constituency quarter finals which started last two weeks and which will determine those who will proceed to the constituency semis this weekend.

In Nyali constituency, Nyali Strikers smashed Bakarani FC 2-1 in a fierce battle that drew crowds at Kishada grounds.

Joseph Otieno who scored the consolation goal for Bakarani

FC was named man of the match. At the nearby Bilima ground, Daytona FC was held to a 1-1 draw by Black Star FC with Youths in action during the ongoing Suleiman Shahbal Super Cup tournament in Mombasa. Seen above, Bahisheba Youth FC (Luminous Strikers) beat MOMBASA FC 2-1 to qualify for the Kisumu Constituency Quarter Finals in a match played at Kishada grounds over the weekend.

Daniel Otels scoring for Daytona and John Otieno scoring for Black Stars.

Black Stars went ahead to win the match on a penalty shoot out edging out Daytona 8-7.

Still in Nyali constituency youthful midfielder Abubakar Yusuf led Golden Stars FC to a 1-0 win against Venus FC in a match played at Kishada grounds.

In Mvita constituency, Ketumi FC was humbled by Floringi FC after an injury time 0-1 defeat in a match played at Ziwani Laso grounds.

Floringi matched to victory through a free kick converted by Ismail Hassan.

In Jomvu Constituency, Green Bombers punished Allidina Sea Eagles 2-1 in an entertaining match played at Miritini primary school.

In a different match played at the same ground, Aljof FC lost 0-0 to Kings United which went together with Green Bombers to proceed to the constituency semis next weekend.

Meanwhile, Quarter Final matches failed to kick off in Likiep Constituency as scheduled due to inadequacy of football pitches with league officials saying the matches will take place from Tuesday.

The league is sponsored by Mombasa County government aspirant Suleiman Shahbal who has asked youths in the county to engage in sports as an alternative to drugs and substance abuse. Shahbal has also promised to sponsor the league champions to a football tour of the United Arab Emirates.
